MAY IMPEACH HIM

Secretary Foster is in a Tight Box.

He Has Juggled the Country's Finances,

And Congressmen are After His Scalp.

Accounts Cooked Up to Hide the Waste.

Discovery by the House Judiciary Committee That May Result in Another Serious Government Scandal.

Washington, D. C., June 14.—Secretary Foster's juggling with treasury balances has gotten beyond the mere stage of cooking up accounts apparently to show that the United States is collecting more money than it is required to expend under the laws of the billion-dollar congress and may cause some trouble before it is ended.

Mr. Foster may have to answer to the house and to the country for a very grave violation of law—a violation so serious that, in the opinion of some members of the committee, he is in danger of impeachment. And this is how it came about:

About three months ago Representative Dockery, of Missouri, introduced a resolution which was referred to the judiciary committee directing that committee to ascertain whether the $100,000,000 gold redemption fund has been used for any other purpose than the redemption of treasury notes, the object for which the fund was created.

The act of 1875 provides for the creation of a redemption fund by the sale of bonds and also that the surplus revenues above the amount appropriated by law shall be placed to the credit of the fund.

The amount thus realized from the sale of bonds yielded $95,000,000 and to this was added $5,000,000 from surplus revenues. The act of 1882 provided that whenever this redemption fund fell below $100,000,000 the secretary of the treasury should suspend the issue of gold certificates.

It is held by most of the leading members of congress that the clear intent of these acts was to create and hold intact in the treasury a fund of not less than $100,000,000 in gold, solely for the purpose of redeeming United States notes. The object in suspending the issue of gold certificates when the fund fell below $100,000,000 was to prevent the treasury from being drained of gold; otherwise, by presenting to the treasury $100,000,000 in greenbacks and demanding gold in exchange, speculators would be able to drain the treasury of gold.

In obedience to the summons of the appropriations committee, Secretary Foster appeared before the committee and his examination showed that the gold reserve fund had been reduced $38,000,000, leaving the fund $62,000,000 instead of $100,000,000. Secretary Foster claimed that he had authority for this, but the secretary is confronted with the unpleasant fact that if he has kept within the law in the one case he has certainly violated it in another, and it is not a technical violation either.

The law expressly states that no gold certificates shall be issued when the fund falls below $100,000,000, yet the secretary has continued to issue gold certificates without regard to the status of the fund.

Notwithstanding that $38,000,000 has been withdrawn, the treasury balance sheet still shows the redemption fund to be intact, and that there is $100,000,000 to its credit in the vaults of the treasury. If Secretary Foster has legally withdrawn from the fund $38,000,000 he convicts himself of having made false statements and having misrepresented the condition of the treasury.

This is what members of the judiciary committee believe has been done. They think the secretary has deliberately juggled with very important figures to conceal the fact that the actual available cash has been reduced to the lowest limit by the extravagance of the last congress. If the opinion of members of the judiciary committee is correct the deficiency in the redemption fund must be made good, and that will reduce the "available cash" in the treasury by just $38,000,000 in gold. In other words, there will be $40,000,000 less to spend than the statements of the secretary of the treasury led the committee on appropriations to believe when it began to frame its appropriation bill.

This presents a very serious question to the house. The matter has been kept very quiet, but at the end of the fiscal year, unless the secretary is able to make a proper showing, he will run the very serious risk of being impeached. The house is determined to do its duty notwithstanding Secretary Foster is personally a very popular officer. The country is likely to learn in a practical way how the party in power has been juggling with the people's money and doctoring the books of the treasury to conceal its deficiencies.

GENERAL DUSTAN.

Death of a Man Who Served Under Burnside.

New York, June 14.—Maj.-Gen. Charles W. Dustan died at Lakewood, N. J., yesterday. He was born on Staten Island, in 1834.

He served under Gen. Burnside for several campaigns, and in 1865 resigned from the army and settled in Alabama. He was commissioned a major-general in the Alabama state militia in 1868. Since 1885 he has been a resident of this city. His father was Capt. Isaac R. Dustan, who commanded the steamer Atlantic, which was wrecked off Fishers' island in 1846, when Capt. Dustan and most of the passengers were drowned.

MARRIED IN A GRAVE YARD

Strange Wedding Ceremony in Maryland.

The Contracting Parties Stand on Mounds of the Bride's Dead Parents.

Baltimore, June 14.—The strangest and most unique marriage ever performed in Baltimore took place yesterday within the boundaries of Green Mount cemetery over the graves of the parents of the bride.

Additional importance attaches to the event owing to the prominence of the contracting parties.

The groom was Col. Hendrick Von Stamp, ex-minister of Denmark to the United States, a knight of the order of Danebrog, and the bride was Miss Mildred Hammond, of this city, daughter of the late Gen. Hammond.

Six carriages were occupied by the wedding party, but the vehicles were supposed to be a funeral cortege, as they slowly moved through the cemetery.

When the Hammond lot was reached the graves were strewn with flowers and the wedding was quickly performed, the bride standing upon the grave of her mother, and the groom standing upon the grave of the bride's father.

The bride is of one of Maryland's oldest families, being a remote descendant of President George Washington. She is 40 and the groom 44 years old. The party left for Washington last evening.

MADE A GREAT RUN.

Columbus and Indianapolis Bike Relay.

The Boys Were Speedy and Camein Ahead of the Schedule.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 14.—The bicycle courier relay race arranged by the Columbus (Ohio) Dispatch, and the Indianapolis News, between those two cities, last night and to-day, has so far been a remarkable performance.

The Dispatch started a message to the News from Columbus last night at 7 o'clock.

The schedule called for a trip to the Hoosier capital in twelve hours and twenty minutes. Although the time was considered extremely fast the relays gained between the stations, and the trip was completed 50 minutes and 48 seconds ahead of time, the message being delivered at the News office at 6 o'clock, 29 minutes and 12 seconds.

Between Columbus and this city there were 23 relays. The distance being over 200 miles, leaves the time per mile about three and one-half minutes, which is faster than ever attained in any other relay race of a similar distance in the country. The riders report the roads as being in fairly good condition.

As nearly the entire distance was covered in the night the feat performed by the twenty-three riders is the source of much jubilation among cyclists here. This morning at 8 o'clock and 20 seconds a message to the Dispatch to be borne by 25 riders was started from the News office in the presence of a big crowd. The message is due at Columbus at 8:12 to-night.

THE LANTERN PARADE.

The Bicyclers Will Have a Big Time—A Drag for non-Riders.

The members af the Toledo Cycling club will participate in their annual lantern parade Thursday evening. Every rider should turn out and decorate. Non-riders can secure accommodations on the drag by addressing S. M. Lavin, 16 Masonic temple. In case of rain Thursday, the parade will take place Friday evening. Chief Raitz will probably accompany the riders on horseback.

Prof. Putnam is in charge of this department at the world's fair, and in the lecture he decribed the work already done in getting the collection together. The chief feature of the exhibit will be representation of Indian life.

CARNEGIE'S FORT

At His Big Homestead Mills,

In Which to Cage Non-Union Workmen.

He is Going to Reduce the Wages of His Men.

And This is Protection for the Workingmen.

No Doubt, However, but That He Will Have Plenty of Funds to Put at the Disposal of the Republican Campaign Committee.

Pittsburg, June 14.—Concerning the prospective trouble at the Homestead Iron works and the lockout which now seems inevitable, the Pittsburg Dispatch prints the following story regarding the preparations for war:

In quiet Homestead, where industry and thrift keep up a constant clamor, and where peace is never broken save by stalwart men who are ever ready to do battle for what they think is right, preparations are being made for a conflict that threatens to involve on one side millions of capital and on the other side the organized labor of America. Both sides to this impending struggle have already issued their ultimatum. The capitalists have demanded a reduction in the scale of wages to enable them, they allege, to compete with other firms of the kind where labor unions are not respected, and where the men are hired for just what they are worth. The labor people have demanded that their wages shall remain as they are, and that their organization shall be recognized.

The trouble between the employer and the employed may be satisfactorily compromised, but the appearances now are against a settlement. To both sides a struggle seems inevitable, and for the war both sides are preparing with the skill and generalship of well-trained veterans.

The labor people are at work in their lodges, from the halls of which no sound is ever heard, but the capitalists, while they confer and prepare their plans in the seclusion of their private offices, are arranging in the open air for what seems an approaching contest. A more deliberate and studied effort to be ready for war was never made even between two contending nations than is now going on in and about the Homestead Steel Works.

The great plant, with its expansive yards and endless tracks, covering nearly 400 acres, has been inclosed by an almost air-tight board fence, which is fully nine feet high. Along the top of this huge fence are stretched, like a treacherous snake with poisoned fangs, three strands of barb wire, which, should the war begin, will be charged with electricity, and cannot therefore be touched.

Inside of this fence are now being constructed double rows of gas and water pipe At the main entrance and just inside the ponderous gates have been erected two substantial water plugs. Cook houses are being built within the inclosure, sleeping arrangements have been made for those who are to be hemmed in, and an inclosed platform extending from the railroad station over the high fence and into th works has been built. The railroad station house has been moved from its former location to a point farther away from what is evidently expected to be the scene of strife.

This covered platform, it is explained, will enable the company to bring in workmen should the threatened lockout occur, and the men brought in can be taken from the trains into the barracks about the works without being seen and without being known to those whose places they will take. The cook houses, the sleeping arrangements, the gas and water pipes, it is argued, enable the men employed to take the strikers' places to remain within the secure inclosure so long as their services are required or until the strike is completely broken. The large fire plugs at the main entrance with a pressure of 400 pounds to the square inch, are to be used, it is claimed, to protect the workmen against any assault that may be made from the outside.

With all these arrangements made by the company, and with the workmen watching with intense concern, every preparation, not for attack, but for unfaltering defense, they say the strike will be inaugurated just the same. While they have little or no hope of breaking down the entrenchment behind which their successors are to be hidden and housed, they are hopeful that the mighty arm of their organization will be strong enough to force the manufacturers to yield to them.

The workmen say they are ready to fight. They say they have seen all the movements of the other side and they are prepared to undo such tactics. They have already chosen their commander for the struggle and they firmly believe that the war will be precipitated on June 24. The wage scale at the Homestead works does not expire until July 1, but the company has demanded a definite reply to their proposition on June 24, when the workmen say the battle will begin.

About 4,000 men will be involved. Most of those now employed at Homestead have their homes there. They will battle as firmly and earnestly for their organization as for their homes, and should the strike occur, it threatens to be a fight to a finish.

The Carnegie company have enormous interests at Homestead, Braddock, and Duquesne. They have millions upon millions of money already invested and with that indominable pluck, energy and enterprise that have extended their works to the present mammoth proportions suggested by their advanced ideas. The erection of four new blast furnaces at Braddock has been been announced, and the much-talked of "hot metal route between the Edgar Thomson, Braddock and the Duquesne and Homestead Steel works is to be constructed at the earliest possible time.

MAY BE A BIG STRIKE.

Amalgamated Association Not Disposed to Accept the Scale.

Youngstown, O., June 14.—District Vice-President P. H. McEvey, of the Amalgamated association, who was here over Sunday, prior to returning to the convention at Pittsburg to-day, was asked regarding the scale question and said: "I don't know whether the manufacturers are cognizant of my feelings or not, but I would deeply deplore a strike."

"Will there probably be a strike?"

"As to that I am not in a position to say, although I have my own individual opinion. If the manufacturers of the Mahoning valley insis on the adoption of the scale formulated by them at Cleveland, and presented to the association, there will be a long and bitter strike, the end of which would be hard to predict. It would not only be a strike of puddlers, but would involve the entire association."

"When will the scale be completed?"

"Next Wednesday, and the convention will probably adjourn on Thursday of next week."

"What will be the result if the scale is refused by Carnegie and non-union men are put to work at Homestead?"

"There will be serious trouble which may culminate in bloodshed and murder. It was at this place that the worst trouble on record in the labor world took place. As regards this district, the Mahoning valley carries off the banner in the Amalgamated association, and the men could stand it to endure a long strike."

The delegates from Youngstown to the Amalgamated convention are hustling to have this city selected for the holding of the annual convention in 1893, with good prospects of securing it.

K. OF H. ELECTION.

Stony Ridge, O., June 14.—At the semi-annual election of officers of Stony Ridge lodge No. 3490, K. of H., the following officers were elected for the ensuing six months: E. C. Calkins, D.; George Hazel, V. D.; M. Heckley, A. D.; D. C. Van Voorhis, R.; Henry Snyder, F. R.; George Robinson, T.; A. W. Rowe, C.; H. F. Mosher, Ge.; Bruce Klink, Gu.; Marshal Cole, S.

PENNOYER'S OPINION.

Portland, Ore., June 14.—Gov. Pennoyer, referring to the late election in Oregon, says the democrats could have easily carried the state if they had not abandoned free coinage and indorsed Grover Cleveland.

From eight to ten thousand democrats were driven from the democratic ranks to the people's party by the open treason to principles and blind idolatry of the late democratic state convention, which changed the party platform to suit its plutocratic candidate.

THE OHIO SOCIETY.

New York, June 14.—The Ohio society at its meeting in this city adopted resolutions congratulating both Harrison and Reid, members of the society, on their nominations. President Strong in an address to the members, added that the democratic party would in all probability nominate another member of the society—ex-Governor James E. Campbell—for vice president, if indeed Gov. Campbell was not nominated for the presidency as a compromise candidate.

CLEVELAND AND HILL

Political Managers are Figuring on the Result.

The Ex-President is Far Ahead So Far as the Wishes of Delegates are Now Known.

New York, June 14.—Up to date the managers of Senator Hill's canvas for the presidential nomination have not given out any figures tending to verify their claim that the senator has more than an even chance to win at Chicago. One day last week a very prominent leader of Tammany said that Hill would have at least 260 votes on the first ballot and Cleveland probably 500. There has been a tally kept of the preferences of delegates so far as could be ascertained. A national delegate from the mid-winter state convention yesterday canvassed the roll of states carefully with these resulting totals: Total delegates, 898; necessary to choice (two-thirds), 599; Cleveland, 453; Hill, 336; Palmer, 48; Carlisle, 35; Boies, 26.

These results are arrived at by splitting delegations; but it is believed most of the states will vote under unit rule. If they do Hill's vote would be reduced to 215 and Cleveland's increased to 577 or within 22 of the requisite number. In this event, either the vote of Kentucky, Iowa, or Illinois would nominate the ex-president, unless South Carolina and Virginia whose delegations are claimed to be equally divided, should cast their 42 votes for Hill.

The nine Cleveland men from Connecticut prefer Hill for second choice, and that is about the way the Hill managers figure most of the delegations. They feel confident that if Cleveland does not win in two ballots his chances are destroyed.

Richard Croker, Edward Murphy and Lieut. Gov. Sheehan start for Chicago Wednesday. On Thursday the delegates leave and on Friday at least 1,200 picked braves will take their departure. Senator Hill was at the Hoffman house to-day holding protracted conferences with Lieut. Gov. Sheehan and Edward Murphy.

HIS TIME WAS WASTED.

Joseph P. Megler's Attempts to Find a Wife.

He Lost a Fortune Trying to Find an Heiress Who Would Wed Him.

New York, June 14.—The Herald says: Joseph P. Megler has tried for seven years to become the husband of some rich woman, and has ignominiously failed.

Perhaps no other man in the United States has been as persistent in this direction as Mr. Megler has been, if so he is entitled to distinction in the great army of eccentric persons.

Mr. Megler put his schemes of fortune hunting into operation in 1885, and has kept it up at a hot pace until now. After repeated disappointments he has come to the conclusion that there is "nothing in it."

"I could not go through the mill again," he said to me sadly yesterday. "It has ruined my health and has been expensive. I was prosperous before I set out to marry money, and through my persistent endeavors to wed an heiress I have become poor."

Mr. Megler's proposal of marriage to women all over the country have without exception, been mailed from Portland, Ore.

He has been sick and idle since he returned to New York, his native city, and while he has abandoned fortune hunting he thinks that he has not been treated quite right by Mrs. W. H. Vanderbilt, one of whose 18 grandchildren he was ambitious to marry.

In speaking of his unprofitable correspondence with Mrs. Vanderbilt, Megler told me that he considered that he stood as good a chance as anybody to wed one of the 18 grandchildren, and that on account of being a native New Yorker he was entitled to consideration.

"Mrs. Vanderbilt was not the first person that I addressed on this matrimonial question," said Megler. "I wanted to marry Eveline, the daughter of Cicero Hunt Lewis, a rich man of Portland. I thought I was going to get Eveline, but she is married now."

Here Megler fished out of his trunk an account book, in which was written in pencil copies of letters he had addressed to different wealthy men and women, informing them that he was in the field hunting for a rich wife. This is what he wrote to Helen Gould on May 2, 1886:

"Dear Miss: I have gone into the matrimonial market, and your name is in my catalogue. Should this information commend your fancy, be kind enough to write me of your approval at once. Yours respectfully,

JOSEPH M. MEGLER."

Megler wrote to Miss Jennie Flood, daughter of the late James C. Flood, in a similar vein, and also made inquiry of John Jacob Astor and Charles Crocker, the San Francisco millionaire, if they had any unmarried daughters. Megler told me that Mr. Crocker, while on a visit to Portland, made inquiries about him at the store where he was employed, and that he was flattered at having attracted Mr. Crocker's attention.

Another letter in Megler's book was directed to Miss Clothilde Palms, daughter of the late Francis Palms, a Detroit millionaire. Megler told me in conclusion that he used to believe that he was destined to be wealthy because, many years ago, before he went west, Jay Gould winked at him one night in the Grand opera house. Although Megler has abandoned his fortune hunting, he reads the newspapers carefully every day in the hope of getting information about the objects of his former epistolary pursuits.

SURVIVED A GALE.

The Little Steamer Juliet Returns Safely.

With Her Load of Ninety-two Graduates.

Awful Storms Reported in the West.

Rivers Again Running Bank Full.

Much Property in Chicago Destroyed and Damaged—Reports From Many of the Western States.

Chicago, June 14.—The steamer Juliet, with the graduating class of the Northwestern university, arrived at the dock near the northwestern depot at 3:15 o'clock this morning.

All on board were safe despite the experiences of the evening and unaware of the anxiety which their failure to return had caused, or of the reports of disaster to the craft.

The trip, while eventful, was not at any time considered dangerous. The excursion was that arranged for the celebration of the class day. The steamer with its merry load went up the lake to Waukegan, leaving Evanston after the first storm was over and when the lake had become comparatively calm. The run up was uneventful and the party had become thoroughly imbued with the spirit of the day.

The return trip was undertaken at 8:15 o'clock, and the little vessel stood out two miles in the lake and had reached a point off Fort Sheridan when the second storm was felt. It had been raining for some time, but the sea was so slight that it was not felt.

Both cabins were filled with the members of the class and the program of exercises was being carried out without any interruption. It was not until the waves began to sweep over the deck that there was any indication that there was danger.

Suddenly, while a speech was being made by one of the male members of the class, the greatest wave encountered swept over the bow, broke, and sent its spray into the cabin through the open hatch. The little vessel shivered, stopped, and careened under its force. The speaker was staggered. His auditors were forcibly thrown about. In fact, in a moment the living cargo was deposited on the lower side. But the young folks righted themselves as rapidly as the steamer came to an even keel and began to put themselves in positions to withstand the rolling of the vessel, for all at once saw that there would be rolling before a port was made.

"When the boat careened the passengers were all thrown to one side of the boat," said a gentleman who was on the boat. "There was much excitement, especially among the young women. The young men tried to reassure them. The sea steadily got heavier, and soon many of the young women were suffering the agonies of seasickness.

"It was then about 10 o'clock. The captain decided to put for Chicago. From that time on it was a tough experience. Out of 40 young women on board only one escaped being seasick. The cabins had been newly painted and we could not open the windows to get any air. There were more than 80 of us jammed in the two little cabins. The result may be imagined. Some of the women fainted. Many preferred to cling to the rail on the upper deck in the driving rain rather than endure the horrors of the cabin.

"Few of us, especially the women, had wraps of any kind, and in our light clothing we were drenched to the skin in a twinkling and chilled to the bone.

"About the time we were abreast of Evanston and could distinguish its lights, things were going hard with us. The steamer was heading directly into the wind and sea. The sea was running high and the wind blowing a gale. The Juliet did not seem to be making any progress whatever. Every now and then we would get into the trough of the sea and we would be thrown about like peas in a basket. One of the girls went into such violent hysterics that she had to be held.

"From this point we fought our way inch by inch to Chicago. Part of the time we could see the shore lights and then all would be black as pitch. At one time both the engineer and fireman were laid out by seasickness. About this time we kind of gave up hope.

"But we crept nearer and nearer to the Chicago light and finally made our way into the harbor as sorry a lot of excursionists as ever landed in Chicago."

The passengers went directly to the northwestern depot and took the 5:15 a. m. train for Evanston.

THE STORM IN CHICAGO.

Many Buildings Damaged—The Wigwam Wrecked.

Chicago, June 14.—The city was visited yesterday afternoon by one of the most severe storms known here for years. It lasted only a short time, but during that time one person is known to have been killed, many painfully injured and much damage done to property. The great wigwam on the lake front, in which the democratic national convention is to be held next week, was badly wrecked.

For three days intensely hot weather has prevailed in this city. About 3 o'clock heavy clouds began to gather, and half an hour later the darkness was so intense that electric and gas lights had to be called into use in the offices and stores down town.

A few minutes later a tornado swept down upon the city from the northwest, accompanied by terrific thunder and lightning, and torrents of rain and hail. In the west division of the city trees were broken down, awnings torn off, and windows shattered.

Several buildings in course of erection were wholly or partially wrecked. A brick cottage at 1336 Whipple street was demolished, 2-year-old Emma Klima killed instantly, and the mother and another child badly injured.

In the district between Twenty-second and Twenty-third streets, west of the river, a great deal of minor damage was done. Telegraph, telephone and electric systems were completely demoralized for a time. Large chimneys on two or three manufacturing establishments were wrecked and some houses struck by lightning and badly damaged. Portions of the roofs of several buildings in State street, between Twenty-third and Sixtieth streets, were blown off, and many chimneys.

A Catholic church at the corner of Twenty-fifth place and Wallace street was badly damaged, the steeple and a portion of the roof being demolished. A passer-by was badly injured by the falling debris.

An elevator near Butler street was struck by lightning, a large hole being torn in one side of the building. The grain was badly damaged by the rain. The Home Insurance building in Lasalle street was struck by the furious gale. Three plate glass windows, 16 by 20 feet in size, in the southwest corner, occupied by the Union National bank, were blown in and shattered into fragments upon the desks and fixtures.

J. J. P. O'Dell, president of the bank, was struck on the thigh by a large piece of glass and severely cut. He was removed to his residence as soon as possible. The other occupants of the bank escaped with slight bruises. The driving rain deluged the bank and did considerable damage. One large window in Armour & Co.'s office was blown in, but no one was hurt. On the upper floors a number of windows were broken. Three or four young women employed in the office fainted and there was a precipitate rush for the staircases and elevators. To make matters worse, lightning burned out a switch board near the dynamo, and all the electric lights in the building went out at the height of confusion.

Seventy-five men were at work in the big democratic wigwam. A quarter-post holding the northeast corner of the umbrella-shaped canvas roof gave way and tore through the canvas. The wind got under it; guy wires snapped like twine, and an instant later the great 90-foot center mast snapped and fell with a crash, smashing through the floor and ruining a hundred chairs. The canvas cover then went into tatters and rain flooded the wigwam. The workmen marvelously escaped injury.

Contractor Allen said this evening that the damage to the wigwam will amount to fully $8,000. He has had enough of canvas, and a timber roof will be ready for the convention.

At midnight two perosns are known to have been killed, five or six fatally injured—the latter workingmen in the new buildings—and many painfully hurt.

Armour's "D" elevator at Morgan street and the river was struck by lightning and completely wrecked. Chas. J. Roberts, who was at work in the boiler room, was buried beneath a mass of bricks and timber, and his body was not recovered until late this evening.

Late this evening a number of additional casualties were reported to the police. Several men working on new buildings were badly hurt by being blown from scaffoldings or struck by flying debris.

The life saving station reports that three men seen in a row boat some distance from the shore before the storm must have been lost. After the storm had passed no trace of them could be seen in any direction.

About 9:30 p. m. another severe storm swept over the city, lasting for about three-quarters of an hour. Two buildings were struck by lightning and set on fire, and other minor damage done. No fatalities are reported. The storm had the effect, however, of demoralizing the telegraph service again, and for a long time Chicago was cut off from communication with the east.

Blew a Gale.

Hammond, Ind., June 14.—A furious wind storm struck this city at 9:15 last night, shattering windows and unroofing houses, tearing down awnings and filling the streets with debris. No lives are reported lost, but there were numerous narrow escapes.

Ice House Destroyed.

Sturgeon Bay, Wis., June 14.—The seven large ice houses belonging to the Union Ice company of Chicago, and situated in this city at the mouth of the bay, were blown down yesterday during a terrible gale from the southeast.

It Was a Cyclone.

Peoria, Ill., June 14.—Trainmen coming this way from Galva report that a terrible cyclone passed over that place about 8 o'clock last evening, doing appalling damage. Only the most meager reports have been received.

The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy round house, the Rock Island and Peoria depot, and many other buildings were destroyed, and several persons were killed and injured. The storm was general throughout this section, and only a few wires are working in any direction.

AT JOLIET.

One Train of Cars Blown into Another on a Siding.

Joliet, Ill., June 14.—During the storm yesterday three trainmen were hurt. Edward Frich, conductor, will die. His back and shoulders were hurt, his legs were crushed and a beam struck him in the abdomen. Peter Randolph, brakeman, had his right leg crushed and his body was badly bruised. E. A. Hazen's legs, breast and arms were crushed.

The men were in their caboose at Brighton eating their dinner when the wind sent another train of 40 cars crashing into them, going clear through the caboose.

DUBUQUE.

The Most Severe Storm on the Wires Known in Years.

Dubuque, Ia., June 14.—A heavy rainstorm, accompanied by a severe electrical disturbance, raged here for several hours last evening. The wires are down and it is impossible to obtain outside reports.

In this city the damage has not been great. Telegraph operators say it is the most severe on the wires of any storm known for years. It is reported that a cyclone struck the country west of here, in the neighborhood of Farley.

SIX THOUSAND ELKS

Are Gathered in the City of Buffalo

To Attend the Sixth Annual Session.

Chicago and Detroit in the Race for the Next Meeting Place of the Society.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 14.—A conservative estimate of the number of Elks and their guests in attendance this morning at he grand lodge and annual reunion here places it at 6,000.

It is conceded on all sides to be the largest gathering in the history of the order and the visitors are enjoying themselves to the full extent of their opportunities.

At 9 o'clock the grand lodge session opened at the Academy of Music, Grand Exalted Ruler Hay, of Washington, presiding. Welcome addresses were delivered by Mayor Bishop, Congressman Lockwood and Ex-Assemblyman Andrus.

At the close of the welcoming exercises the grand lodge went into secret session on the report of the committee on credentials. When that business had been finished an adjournment was taken until to-morrow at 9 o'clock.

Gossip about the hotel corridors this morning indicate a feeling exists in favor of a material change in the administration.

With one or two exceptions new officers are contemplated. Louisville wants several officers and several reforms. Among the reforms to be discussed is that the lodge and per capita tax to the grand lodge should be reduced as the fund is considerably larger than there is any need for. The "progressionists" oppose this. They want the present tax retained and the surplus regarded as a fund for the building of a permanent Elks' home. The latter sentiment is regarded in the most favorable light.

The fight for the next grand lodge meeting place will be hot. The decision is likely to rest between Chicago and Detroit. The former is favored because of the World's Fair, while it is urged on the other hand that in view of the crowded condition of Chicago next year Detroit would be able to provide better accommodations.

The canvass for the chief office continues active and Apperly, of Louisville, is said to have the lead.

There is no liklihood of any competition for the position of grand chaplain. Mr. Henry G. Perry, of Chicago, the present incumbent, is favorably spoken of for re-election.

GHOST OF DISCONTENT

Is Stalking Abroad in the Base Ball World.

The Big League to Reduce Expenses.

Nick Young Made Czar and Given Power to Freeze Von der Ahe et al to Death.

New York, June 14.—Nearly all the gentlemen promnent in directing the affairs of base ball in the country met at the Fifth Avenue hotel yesterday afternoon, to settle, if possible, the spirit of discontent that exiss at present in the New York and one or two other clubs, owing to what they consider an unfair distribution of the best players. President N. E. Young, of the National League, presided.

The New York team needs a catcher, second baseman and one of two outfielders, and they claim that Boston and Brooklyn have enough good material lying idle to strengthen their team if it can be arranged.

I was 6 o'clock before the meeting adjourned, and the magnates said that everything was harmonious. The business done was the adoption of means to curtail expenses and o make up for the loss incurred by the past unfavorable weather. The clubs agreed to cut down head of 17 and 18, as heretofore; so that the railroad expenses will not be so great. The surplus players will be placed in charge of the secretary of the league, N. E. Young, who will hold them subject to the call and demand of the clubs. Mr. Young will then distribute them where he thinks they will be best fitted. In the meantime, these surplus players will draw no salaries until they are placed. This state of affairs, it was said, will not last longer than until the fall and the busy ball season opens. The assessments of the clubs were also increased from 10 to 12 1-2 per cent in order to pay off the debt of the American association.

Mr. Byrne, of Brooklyn, said that nothing was said against the twelve-club league, but that the clubs were stronger now than ever before. None of them asked for help, and every one was willing that no other business of importance was to carry out the scheme. It was said transacted.

The big league is rapidly weaving the web around the association flies which have walked into the trap. With the clubs cut down to 13 men, and the power of strengthening placed in the hands of "Nick" Young, the association clubs might just as well commence figuring on a circuit of their own for next season, for this is the first step toward the dinky dink, and Young is a whole "confidence committee by himself. The league in its action is doing a very unjust piece of business and one that will rise to haunt it in future years. The players are to have their pay stopped, but they will not be allowed to seek ball employment in other leagues, for fear the big league would need them.

The action is only another blow at the great national game, which is just now tottering.

Chicago, June 14.—The departure of Frank C. Ives for Paris and the coming contest for the world's championship at the fourteen-inch balk line game, which will take place at the French capital between June 20 and 25, is likely to have an important bearing upon billiard affairs during the world's fair in this city.

The contest between Ives, Schaefer, Catton and Carter and such French experts as Vignaux, Gibelin, Piot and Garnier, which will be arranged as soon as the championship match is decided, will probably develop a strong desire on the part of the foreigners to visit America during 1893. M. M. Bensinger, president of the Brunswick-Balke-Callender company, will sail for Europe from New York city on the steamship Aurania of the Cunard line on June 25.

He will visit Paris and while there will discuss with the leading players the project of a great international tournament to be held in Chicago next year. Mr. Bensinger did not intend to start quite so soon, but owing to the ill health of his wife, for whom the physicians have recommended a sea voyage, he has been compelled to hasten his departure.

He will not be able to see the Ives-Schaefer match, but he will reach Paris in time to witness the contests that are sure to follow that event, when negotiations for the campaign of 1893 will commence and undoubtedly some arrangement will be perfected before he leaves for home.

London, June 14.—The Ascot stakes, handicap of about two miles, was won by the 4-year-old chestnut filly Billow, by Ocean Wave out of Queen Frederica; Mr. Taylor's 5-year-old brown colt Harfleur, by Lancastrian, dam by Adventurer, out of Wild Flower, being second, and Lord Gerard's 3-year-old bay filly Metallic, by Sweet Bread, out of Bell Metal, third. The victory of Billow excited great surprise, both Harfleur and Metallic were greater favorites in the betting. Harfleur won the Visitors' plate at Ascot last year and Metallic won the Carlton plate at Lingfield, the Dudley plate at Newmarket, the All-aged plate at Brighton and the Nursery stakes at Newmarket, whereas Billow had no victories to his credit last year.

WHISKY CASES.

Evident that the Trust is to Have Some Trouble.

Cincinnati, June 14.—The intensely black eye given the government by the decision of United States Circuit Judge Jackson in the case of L. H. Green, acting president of the whisky trust, is the theme of much congratulation in whisky circles here.

The only one who is not glad is Treasurer W. N. Hobart, who, when he heard of the second indictment, hurried to court to give bond for his appearance at Boston in order that he might not be disturbed during the May festival.

United States Circuit Judge Ricks, of Cleveland, who had two similar cases before him, had heard them, and had prepared an opinion, but knowing the circuit court here had the same case to hear, he withheld his decision and came here to listen to Judge Jackson's hearing. It turned out that they agreed exactly, and Judge Ricks telegraphed to Cleveland to publish his opinion.

United States District Attorney Herron is still absent, and until he returns the final order releasing Mr. Green will not be issued. The rise in stock of the Distillers & Cattle Feeders' Co. is commented on with satisfaction by those interested.

Boston, June 14.—The bare fact that a decision has been rendered by the circuit court judge in Ohio to the effect that the whisky trust defendants could refuse to appear in Massachusetts is not definite enough to enable District Attorney Allen to express an opinion upon its significance. He says: "I propose pushing the cases to a conclusion, and just what form the matter will take will depend entirely upon the opinion of the federal court of Ohio. The information I received that a decision had been rendered was obtained from the newspapers, which, however, did not furnish the grounds for the opinion. For that reason I cannot tell what action will be taken. However, nothing will be done until I receive the opinion of the Ohio court, or am instructed by the attorney-general."

CHICORA, PA., IN FLAMES

Disastrous Conflagration With No Water.

Buildings Go Down by the Dozen.

Hard Work by the Firemen Under Great Difficulty Finally Controls the Flames.

Pittsburg, June 14.—A Chicora, Pa., telegram dated at 4 o'clock this morning says at that hour a fire, which raged all night, was thought to be under control.

The flames originated in McGinley's restaurant, on Slippery Rock street, from an unknown cause.

The water supply gave out almost immediately and the buildings burned like tinder.

A bucket brigade was started but the fire proved uncontrollable, and the people had to get out what wearing apparel they could and flee for their own safety.

After an hour and a half delay water was secured from the United Pipe Line pump station, but the fire had gained such headway that water seemed almost useless.

Buildings were torn down by the hook and ladder company, and several blown up with dynamite. This with the supply of water succeeded in stopping the fire on one side of the streets and gave the citizens and thefire company more encouragement, and they fought manfully, several being badly burned by the intense heat.

The list of business people burned out on the south side of the street is as follows:

Wingle's restaurant; McGinley's restaurant and confectionary; Mrs. Harris, millinery; Boss grocery (used as warehouse); H. C. Litzinger, groceries; C. H. Amey, billiard parlor; Purucker's meat market; Stroble, barber; Bowen, grocery; S. Frankle, dry goods; E. F. Hayes, hardware; Beechs, bakers; postoffice; Taylor, barber and cigars; United pipe line office; Butler county bank building.

On the opposite side of the street, Aldinger's shoe store; James Cogan, oyster saloon; Mrs. Rosh, millinery; George Glass, grocery; R. F. Westerman, gent's furnishing goods; Frazier's news depot; Forquer's hotel; DeWolf's drug store; Smith's meat market; Westermann Bros.' grocery department.

The fire was gotten under control at Westermann Bros.' store, it being iron finished. Many small dwellings at the rear of the street were entirely destroyed and many families are homeless. It is not thought any lives were lost, as business houses burning gave families a chance to secure safety, otherwise it would have proved fatal to many, as the people had all retired.

No estimate of the loss sustained has yet been made.

The reputation of Garfield Tea is encircling the globe, orders coming in for it not only from Europe, but far India.

GETTING AROUND THE LAW

The Gas Trustees Cannot Buy' But They May Lease, See?

The Board Decides to Supply Manufacturers Again.

Interesting Meeting of the Board Whereat Mr. Backus Finds Himself With the Minority As of Old.

That the gas trustees have succeeded in getting around the decision of the circuit court was illustrated at last night's meeting of the board.

That the board is short on gas is a potent fact, and that more gas is needed to keep the machine running is another fact equally as potent.

The board cannot buy gas territory, or wells, under the decision of the court, but it has the right to lease lands or wells.

The price of the well purchased last evening was $2,200. The board cannot pay cash, but it can pay a rental, so that at the end of twelve months the well is paid for and belongs to the city.

Mr. Backus evidently does not like the idea of thus choking a dog with butter, but the thing is to get the gas, legally if possible, if not—well.

Another important matter decided last night was the resolution authorizing the manager to renew contracts with manufacturers to bring in a summer revenue.

Mr. Romeis, from the committee on finance, presented the monthly report and the same was adopted and ordered forwarded to the common council.

Mr. Voit, from the committee on territory, reported the leasing of a well located at Bairdstown, and measuring 2,533,000 feet. Consideration, $500 for the first month, $150 for 11 months and $129.97 for the 13th month; total, $2,279.97. The annual rental thereafter will be $200 a year.

Mr. Voit states that the rock pressure was 200 pounds after blowing off 15 minutes.

Mr. Backus asked if the board could legally incur a cebt of $500.

President Greene did not know but though it was not a very serious question if the city got equivalent returns.

Mr. Romeis said it was better to dissolve the board if it had not the power to secure gas when it was so necessary.

Mr. Backus understood the well was one of five within a radius of 500 feet. Two other wells were being drilled.

Mr. Backus said the well could net the city $6,000 the first month providing the city had the consumers.

Mr. Backus favored securing wells, but it should be legally, and in a location where the wells were not likely to play out.

Mr. Voit said the Northwestern Gas company had leased one of the five wells. The company's experts said the location was excellent.

Mr. Backus would stake his reputation that before December 1, the whole seven wells could be bought for $500.

President Greene asked Mr. Backus where he got the information about the well which he possessed.

Mr. Backus ignored the question.

President Greene said the reason he asked was that he was given the same information by Mr. John Cummings, a director of the Northwestern Gas company.

After some further discussion the lease was approved, Mr. Backus voting "no."

When Mr. Romeis' name was called, he said, "Aye—if I'm wrong, I'm willing to go to jail for it." Mr. Backus, "Well, I ain't."

An order for $500 to pay the first rental was ordered drawn.

Manager Heston reported that on June 4, the Trout well measured $2,231,000. The reduction in the output brought the rental down to $100.

An application for gas was made by the Toledo Brewing company.

On suggestion of Mr. Voit a former resolution refusing to make further contracts was read.

Mr. Backus said it would be a singular proceeding to shut off certain concerns and then take on others.

In reply to a query Manager Heston said he had already turned the gas on under certain boilers.

Mr. Backus remarked this was a radical violation of the rules of the board. It was a question whether or not the board had the right to discriminate.

President Greene asked Mr. Backus that, supposing the city, with a limited supply, could only accommodate one-half the large consumers, would he refuse to supply the half because he could not supply all.

Mr. Backus said all he desired was to keep within the limits of the law.

Mr. Voit introduced the following resolution:

Resolved, That the manager be and he hereby is instructed to report all new applications for fuel for manufacturing purposes to the board for its approval. That the manager is hereby authorized to turn on gas for manufacturing purposes in compliance with and in the order of their former contracts as far as possible to do so."

Mr. Backus opposed the resolution on the grounds that it was in conflict with existing rules of the board.

President Greene said the chief question was whether the city was going to make hay while the sun shines. Why let others draw away the gas when the city coudl just as well be utilizing it.

Mr. Backus offered a resolution to the effect that the manager be authorized to turn on the gas under all boilers from which it was cut off last fall providing the owners desired to renew the contract. The amendment was not seconded and the original motion carried.

Secretary Brown reported balance in treasury $17,979, receipts since June 7, $4,065.

A communication relative to the settlement of a $40,000 claim was read from the American Tube & Iron Co., and referred to the city solicitor.

IN THE SUPREME COURT.

Columbus, O., June 14.—The case of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railroad company v. Albert Q. Lindsey was brought to the supreme court yesterday on errors to the circuit court of Mahoning county. In December, 1888, Lindsey, while serving the above company as engineer, was injured in a wreck and his brain became paralyzed, totally disabling him. He brought suit against the company for $30,000 damages and recovered $7,875.75. The company brings the case up in hopes of being relieved from paying the money.

COLLECTOR HENDRICKS.

He is Mentioned as a Man to Run the Machine.

New York, June 14.—The Times says: Since the defeat of Thomas C. Platt and his men in the Minneapolis convention, the question as to who should take charge of the republican national campaign in this state has been the subject of earnest discussion among the leading republicans who are in this city.

In the person of Collector of the Port, Francis Hendricks, they believe they can see the necessary man to take charge of the campaign in this state. Sagacious republicans have been pointing to Mr. Hendricks as the coming leader of their party for some time. Mr. Hendricks, while in the state senate, earned for himself the reputation of being a man who did his own thinking and whose ideas on party matters were usually wise and the product of very careful thought and skillful calculating.

CHAIRMAN SPRINGER.

What He Thinks of the Minneapolis Convention

And What Will be Done by Chicago Delegates.

The Lower House of Congress Will be Ready to Adjourn by the Fourth of July.

New York, June 14.—The Times has the following; William A. Springer, chairman of the ways and means committee, of the house of representatives, was at the Sturtevant house, Broadway, between Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth streets, yesterday. He was more than willing to talk about politics:

"I will attend the Chicago convention, but not as a delegate," said Mr. Springer.

"If Blaine had retired from the Harrison cabinet a year ago," continued Mr. Springer, "instead of on the eve of the convention, without any tragic or stage effects, I do not doubt that he would have had the nomination. As is was, under all the circumstances of his February letter and his sudden resignation, his nomination would have caused serious disturbances if not open ruptures in his party. Under all the conditions Harrison was a stronger candidate.

"I don't think Blaine acted treacherously toward Harrison. Mr. Blaine has been greatly impaired in body and mind for many months and he listened to the flowery representations of those on whose judgment he relied to the effect that there was a breat popular demand for him as the candidate. This demand was imaginary. You can readily judge how much disinterested patriotism there was in his supporters by running over the names of the leading ones—Thomas C. Platt, M. S. Quay, J. S. Clarkson, and men like them. They tried to manufacture popular enthusiasm out of personal dislikes. They stole the livery of Blaine's supposed popularity to serve their private ends and resent their personal disappointments.

"Harrison's nomination is a fair one, and he is a fair representative of republican principles, but McKinley's nomination would have been a more honest acknowledgement of their faith in protection and would have made it more distinctive as a part of the republican policy. With the present uncertainty as to the popularity of the McKinley bill the republicans hesitated and even feared to make him the representatvie of party policy. They took measure, but distrusted the man. They wanted to see first if the measure would stick and go down with the people.

"With Harrison as the candidate we can make tariff reform the issue. If Blaine had been nominated we would have had an insincere republican campaign, full of buncombe, reciprocity, personalisms and sensationalisms. Blaine was overreached. That which he supposed was a demand for him was only another means of expressing personal resentment to Harrison.

"The delegates to Chicago will be men of cool heads and judgment, and will not be moved by any imaginary demonstration of popular enthusiasm, but will exercise their judgment as to what is the best to do. If, after weighing the situation over carefully, they come to the conclusion that Cleveland can carry New York state and the country they will nominate him.

"Those states which are doubtful and essential are New York, New Jersey and Indiana. It is absolutely essential for us to carry these states. Connecticut is a doubtful state, and Illinois and Wisconsin might also be regarded as doubtful, but, under favorable circumstances, we can carry these three states.

"In Illinois the popular sentiment as expressed in the newspapers and county convention is for Palmer first and Cleveland next. The delegates to Chicago were uninstructed, except to that extent that if it was found that the first place on the ticket was going west they were to present and urge Senator and ex-Governor Palmer. They are therefore at liberty to vote for any eastern man.

"I think that Palmer has a good show for the nomination. He is a man of the people, is right on all of the great issues, is in good health, is available, has a good record, and can carry Illinois without a doubt, and render Wisconsin, Indiana and Iowa extremely doubtful. He is my personal candidate.

"I am not advised as to how the Indiana delegation stands, but I think it is about equally divided between Gray and Cleveland. They are uninstructed and may vote together as a unit.

"I earnestly desire the success of the democratic party, and I want the issue kept on tariff reform. That is the great and permanent issue. I believe in more of tariff reform and less of personalities.

"I earnestly advocated Cleveland's nomination in 1884, and his renomination in 1888. I have at all times been his friend and admirer. I agree with him entirely in his tariff reform policy, and if I were making a president to-day I would choose him as the best living embodiment of democratic faith and principles. If we lose in this election I don't expect to live long enough to see the tariff reformed."

Mr. Springer said that, so far as he was personally concerned, he doubted if Mr. Cleveland was the most available candidate, owing to the alleged hostility to him of the old soldiers, the Farmers' alliance and the New York party machine, whose organization and existence were at stake, as a result of the Syracuse convention.

"When will congress adjourn?" Mr. Springer was asked.

"The house will be ready to adjourn July 4."

"What do you think of the record of the session?"

"I think it has been reasonably good. We have allowed a vast amount of talk, and nothing is so beneficial as a free discussion of all subjects. I warned our people at the beginning of the session of the necessity of keeping down the expenditures. There has been very little room for retrenchment, as the republicans, in their billion congress and before that, had made most of their immense expenditures recurrent and permanent. For this reason we were unable to get at them except by repealing the obnoxious measures of legislation, and this we could do only with the concurrence of the senate.

"If we had had both branches of congress with us, also a president, we could have made a record of rare economy. But how could we get rid, for instance, of the $1,000,000 in the sugar bounties provided for by the republican congress? Then, too, the great public buildings projected by the billion congress all came in for their necessary appropriations at the hands of this congress. And there is the pension list. Six months ago, when I looked into the subject, the pension office was adjudicating 1,000 pension claims per day.

"The enormous magnitude of the pension bounties has become a very serious matter. During Mr. Harrison's administration the number of pensioners has been increased by between 300,000 and 400,000 persons and the beneficiaries under the service pension law are mostly all voters. I have no doubt in my mind that the present administration has used the pension office and its ramified branches as a great political machine.

"I do not think that the present session of congress has been marked by extravagance, except, it may be, in the matter of appropriations in the river and harbor bill, and those appropriations, as we all know, were for great public works and were far below the estimates of the war department. Taken as it stands, I am satisfied that the record of the session has been a good one."

The Y. W. C. A. will give an enterainment at Pythian castle Friday evening.

WORK TRAINS COLLIDE.

Serious Disaster Cabled From London.

Four Persons Killed and a Large Number Badly Shaken Up.

London, June 14.—A collision at Bishop's Gate this morning resulted in the loss of four lives and the injury of many persons.

Two trains run for the purpose of carrying people who live in the suburbs to their work in London and known as the workingmen's trains, collided at the Bishop's Gate station. The trains were crowded with people and as they crashed into each other there was a frightful outcry, indicating that a large number had been killed or maimed.

It was found that besides the four killed 40 were injured in the collision and it is thought that some of the latter may not survive. Much excitement prevailed at Bishops' Gate as other trains came in bearing thousands of passengers, all of whom were delayed until the wreck had been cleared. The police set to work at once to ascertain the responsibility for the disaster.

End of Season

must be thought of. If you're going to have your flannels washed in the old-fashioned, rubbing, twisting, wrenching way, with soap and a washboard, then you'll look something like this by the time the leaves fall. Flannel is flannel, and it shrinks unless it's washed as it ought to be—with Pearline.

Beginning of Season

is the time to take action. Make up your mind now that your toggery shall be washed only with Pearline (you're told just how on every package) and you won't have any trouble. Look up your last year's suits and have them washed with Pearline, too. They'll look like new, and, if too small for you, will do for a younger generation.

RUSSELL-DOLMAN CO.

Toledo Secures a Great Industry.

Paddock, Hodge & Co. and J. H. Bowman Interested

In a Concern Which Promises to be One of the Largest in the Country.

When the Russell-Dolman Grain company was incorporated at Columbus a month ago with a capital stock of only $10,000, few in the city had any idea that the incorporation was the nucleus of one of the largest grain concerns in the country.

Mr. Dolman, who is the senior partner in the banking and grain commission firm of Dolman, Russell & Co., of Kokomo, Ind., has been here for the past week arranging the final details of a great enterprise. He returned home yesterday, with the deal consummated, or practically so.

The firm of Dolman, Russell & Co. is one of the wealthiest of the kind in the country. The new firm will be known as the Russell-Dolman grain firm, and connected with it will be the Toledo grain firm of Paddock, Hodge & Co. The firm have secured and will operate this season a large line of elevators at this and other points.

Mr. J. H. Bowman is also interested in the new company. The institution will be operated both here and at Kokomo with Mr. Dolman as general manager at the latter place, and Paddock, Hodge & Co. managing affairs at this point.

In interesting the firm of Paddock-Dodge the people of Kokomo have made an excellent selection, as there are no abler or keener young commission men in the country than Messrs. Bowman, Paddock & Hodge.

Mr. Hodge, speaking with a Bee this morning, said the stock had all been subscribed and there was none of it on the market.

Mr. Dolman has the reputation of being one of the shrewdest and ablest grain buyers in the land, and what with the strength of talent and money success is already assured.

As a gain commission house the firm has already attained a reputation second to none in the west.

TURNING TOWARDS CHICAGO

Democrats Looking to the Convention.

The End of the Week Will Find Very Few of them at the National Capital.

Washington, June 14.—The eyes of the democratic politicians at Washington are now turned in the direction of Chicago and active preparations are going on for the movement toward that city, and by the latter part of the week but few of the democratic leaders will answer a roll call at either end of the capitol.

Senator Gorman is quite certain to be there. Senator Palmer does not at present expect to go; Senator Hill is uncertain, and Senator Brice is now at Columbus, Ohio, within a convenient distance of the convention city.

He, it is expected, will have Gov. Campbell for a side partner; Senators Vilas, Vest and Mills are reported to be already actively working in Mr. Cleveland's interest.

Senators Pugh, George, Walthall, Bate, Berry, Cockrell, Ransom and Gibson are put down as champions for Mr. Gorman in the issue of the force bill, in which Mr. Gorman figured so prominently as the opponent in the senate. Senator Palmer is reported as saying that he expects Mr. Cleveland's nomination at Chicago. Messrs. Fithian, Forman, Lane and Scott of Illinois, are working hard for Mr. Morrison and have succeeded in arousing quite a boom for him in some quarters, and are reported to have attracted to his support a few of the anti-Cleveland forces who are anxious to hold the large vote of Illinois on the first ballot away from Cleveland, fearing its effect upon the uninstructed delegates.

ASK FOR A RECIEVER.

The Court Called on by Creditors.

Attachments Against Eversman, the Clothier.

Interesting Legal Tangle to be Unravelled by the Lawyers.

Late yesterday afternoon chattel mortgages were filed at the county recorder's office, given by Fred W. Eversman & Co. on the stock of clothing and fixtures of the clothing store at 511 Summit street.

The mortgages filed were as follows:

To Jacob Mandler, security as indorser on a note amounting to $2,000.

F. W. Eversman @ Co. to Clinton Idler as security on two notes, one for $2,400, running 30 days, the other $600, running 30 days. This was transferred to Jacob Mandler.

Fred W. Eversman & Co. and Fred W. Eversman to the First National bank, to secure payment on a note amounting to $1,000, given for 90 days.

Fred Eversman to Stern, Bloch & Co. security for a claim of $527, for goods.

Fred W. Eversman & Co. to Magdalena Graether, $800.

Fred W. Eversman & Co. to E. C. Shaw & Co., claim of $133.26.

These creditors, immediately on filing the mortgages, took possession of the stock, and are now conducting the business.

Late last night the following suits were filed in common pleas court to attach the property in possession of the creditors.

Lipman Bros., on a claim of $307; Abraham Lessert & Co., $870. These two firms are represented by King & Tracy.

Beal & Co. also filed a suit by their attorney, Geo. H. Beckwith, on a claim of $1,277. George Minor et al. are also represented by a claim of $1,277, in charge of attorney John Kumler.

At 2 o'clock to-day Abraham Lesser, by his attorneys, King & Tracy, filed a petition against all of the other creditors, and mortgagees, for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of the stock and will wind up the affairs of the firm.

The plaintiff in his petition claims that he had begun proceedings in attachment in common pleas court, and that the sheriff duly served the process of garnishment upon the defendants, Jacob Mandler and the First National bank; that at this time the defendants were in possession of the stock, and that the property was owned by Fred W. Eversman and Clinton Idlor; also that it is valued at $10,000 and that the firm is indebted in the sum of $18,000; also the plaintiff claims that by reason of the firm's indebtedness to him, he has a lien on the property.

The plaintiff prays that a receiver may be appointed, and that the liens may be marshalled and determined.

A MERRY-GO-ROUND

On a Double-Deck Electric Street Car.

A merry party of young people met at the home of Miss Jessie Durfee last evening, and boarding one of the "double deckers" started on an excursion around the Belt. They were well provided with fish horns and other musical (?) instruments, and there were also some good vocalists, whose voices could be occasionally heard above the din. After the ride the excursionists returned to Miss Durfee's, where refreshments were served. The young people composing the party were:

Waldron Laskey, Russell Hiett, D. O. Douglas, A. A. Barber, Geo. Padgett, O. K. Marvin, C. C. Whitmore, W. S. Herron, Harry Stewart, Kenneth Merrill, Jessie Durfee, Myrtle Huber, Kate Craig, Miss Jordon, Miss Durand, Anna Fisher, Bertha Sherman, Daisy Farley, Sallie Sherman, Bessie Brownsberger.

The young person, with bushy hair, and who is equally taken to be a man and a woman by the spectators, has as warm a position in Mockett's show window as is held by any this hot June spell.

The young Circassian—it is a man, and his name is Rhoda Hijik—is of that noted race whose home is in eastern Europe, and which has long been famed for its beautiful women, who have long held the palm for attraction in the slave marts of the Orient. Snake-charming being a national occupation, because a part of their religion, Hijik is really not so uncomfortable as we who regard a snake as allied with His Satanic Majesty, might conclude.

The interesting spectacle will continue at Mockett's the remainder of the week, when all the little ones, and many of those older, will be on hand to gratify their taste for the strange and curious.

A Job Lot Convention.

The Minneapolis convention was the culmination of bad politics. Its methods were disgraceful and the balance of power was in the hands of a notoriously bad element.

The office holder in politics never was so brazen as last week. He advertised his coming and hired a brass band to announce his arrival. He was for Benjamin Harrison because President Harrison had given him an office. He dominated the convention and quartered on the best the fair city of Minneapolis afforded.

More than two hundred such as is here described, were delegates to the national republican convention. More than twenty-five hundred office holders were in Minneapolis to help their chief. The southern office holders were especially numerous and vehement for Harrison. They spent money freely and bought delegates recklessly. The southern negroes seemed to be common plunder, and back and forth they sold their votes. the office holders seemingly having money enough to buy them last and hold them to the finish.

The predilections of the credentials committee were in doubt two days, both factions claiming it, so close was the strife between the Harrison and anti-administration crowds. When the administration won it was freely said, guardedly admitted, and not denied, that the office holders purchased the deciding votes in the committee.

When the attempt was made to stampede the convention to a third candidate the office holders held the southern republicans, white and black, in line by the potentiality of money.

It was the worst kind of a job lot convention. The states which may be expected to cast their electoral votes for the successful candidate were unable to make the nomination. Even Ohio, with twenty-three electoral votes cast forty-five votes in convention against Harrison, and Pennsylvania and New York, gave majorities against him. Texas, which will give an overwhelming democratic majority in November, gave Harrison a large convention vote, as did Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, and North and South Carolina. When the attempt was made to turn the convention over to McKinley, Harrison lacked only sixty-five votes of the required majority. Forty-five were immediately supplied by the southern negroes and carpet bag white office holders from the south.

The situation in Minneapolis cannot be defended upon the hypothesis that the authorities in Washington were unfamiliar with the methods employed. They knew all about it. The office holders were there by express order of the administration. Secretary Foster expressed disgust when the news was received in Washington of the Ohio sell-out—not because the office holders were there, but because they did not carry out his orders. Office holders high in authority, including judges and district attorneys were in attendance coaching, threatening, shouting and very likely purchasing delegates to vote for the renomination of Benjamin Harrison. They did not disguise their business. They boasted of their power as republican officers of the United States. They ridiculed civil service law, and scoffed at public sentiment. They were a band of political plunderers and the element they had to deal with was a job lot of susceptible politicians. It was the most disgraceful convention ever held in this country, and now that it is over it is too much for even the office holders to expect that the ticket so disgracefully made shall be elected by the people in November.

The "Homestead" Outrage.

While the air is full of the described glories of "protection to American labor," Mr. Andrew Carnegie, the man who of all men in the world, has been made rich by the taxation of the people in his behalf—Mr. Carnegie, with millions upon millions of dollars' worth of property, who makes boast that he leads the iron industries of the world—Mr. Carnegie, who writes articles for the Reviews, explaining the relative and natural condition of serf and lord, all under the name of American republicanism—Mr. Carnegie, who has built for himself monuments in the old world cities by virtue of dollars wrung from the hard hands of American toilers, and whose coaching tours through Europe throw the splendor of princely pageants in the shade—this Mr. Carnegie is preparing to scale down the wages of his workmen, and because they dare to protest against the injustice and in their strength as organized laborers, dare to make appeal—this Mr. Carnegie is intrenching himself and his mighty works behind a barbed wire wall, to protect the "pauper labor" which he purposes to put into the places of the 4,000 men who have been trying to build their poor little homes around his lordly business domain, by virtue of the pittance he allows them for helping to create his wonderful wealth.

A description of the feudal fortress this American monarch is building about his enormous estates is printed in the telegraph columns of this day's impression of the Bee, and the reader is asked to give it careful attention. If those bristling barbs to be charged with death-dealing electricity, do not stir the blood of the whole people and awaken them to a sense of what high-handed measures are possible for monopolists in this boasted free country, then the true American spirit is dead in the breasts of erstwhile American democracy, and the rank growth of class legislation has virtually destroyed the republic.

This slashing of wages every now and then in the Carnegie works, is only one illustration of hundreds, but it is the most conspicuous, because of the prominence and the utter defiance of the iron King who has proclaimed his belief in the divine right of wealth to rule. And the law that makes these things possible, and more and more frequent, is the tariff imposition which the republican party is trying to fasten upon the country with clamps of steel.

Chauncey's After Convention Views.

Mr. Depew unbosomed himself to a Chicago reporter. Evidently the leader of the victorious forces at Minneapolis hadn't yet got a level head, for he made some very queer statements, if he is correctly reported. Like all other republicans, he finds great comfort in the Cleveland and Hill quarrel in New York. He says, "the possible attitude of Hill's followers towards Cleveland is not a possibility on the republican side." And. "Nobody believes for a moment, that Blaine desires to re-enter public life." This is a nice speech of conciliation for the Blaine workers. He congratulates the Harrisonians:

We have never had more able men than those in charge of the machinery; and they are valuable after the convention canvas. But great possession of great power leads party leaders to count the strength of party movements. Clarkson and the leaders who stood with him could not feel the power of the great business interests of the country.

If the great originator of reciprocity and his seconds could not "feel the power of the great business interests of the country," what was the matter? Mr. Depew says "Harrison has three great elements of strength: the business men, the laboring men and the old soldiers." The great stress laid on "the business interests" is well understood; it means the monopolies and combines are safe, a humbug anti-trust law to the contrary notwithstanding.

Just what reason the labor element of the country has to support Mr. Harrison is not explained. Strikes, cut-wages, "Pinkertons," unrest, and dissatisfaction have been on the increase during the four years of his administration.

There is one grandiloquent thing about "our Chauncey's" forecasts and hindcasts: he never troubles himself to verify statements or give reason for the faith that is in him. His mighty affirmation is, to his mind, all sufficient.

Disgraceful Campaigning.

It was a very significant combination that appeared, by chance, in the dispatches of the republican organ last evening. "A race war imminent in Oklahoma. Outrages committed by negroes, on white women," headlined the one. The brutal assaults were mentioned, and the threat of the negroes that if the guilty fiends were lynched the town would be laid in ashes. Says the dispatch, "republicans and democrats alike take the stand that negro rule is at an end in Oklahoma. Some respectable negroes joined the whites in their expression."

Alongside this dispatch from Guthrie, is one from Chicago, reporting the words of Albion Tourgee on "southern outrages." He says, "if the attitude of the country towards the colored men doesn't change, we shall have a massacre. The persecution that is showered upon the negro of the south knows no amelioration."

And it is just such criminal encouragement as this from blockhead fanatics that urges on the lawlessness of the negro. Let the Tourgees who are so anxious to run another campaign on "outrages" warn the brutal ravishers of white women, instead of making persecuted saints of them. Partisan fanatics of the Tourgee stripe, who feed this fire of deviltry for supposed political advantage, ought to be arrested and imprisoned.

An Inexcusable Nuisance.

Toledo streets are either muddy or dusty all the time. There is no excuse for these conditions. They can be kept cleand and at much less expense than by the present ancient methods of the hoe brigade, which is maintained for political purposes.

In Minneapolis the principal streets are swept every night, rain or shine. It is a simple, speedy and inexpensive plan. Toledo ought to do better and be cleaner. The present condition is positively disgraceful. Something ought to be done at once to improve the streets. The council has the power to do better, and it is not asking too much to insist that better methods shall prevail.

Chauncey Depew says: the people wanted Harrison and they have nominated him. Mr. Depew knows a great deal about what "the people" want. "The people" of Mr. Depew's party wanted Blaine and the Harrison machine had hard work to crowd him off the track.

An anti-trust plank of the republican platform, along with reiteration of the beneficiary law that creates and fosters trusts, is a "feature" of all republican manifestoes. It's enough to make a cast-iron image smile.

When Mistress J. Ellen Foster declared an eulogy on Massachusetts, "the always progressive state," and " queen of New England," did she remember that Massachusetts had progressed into the ranks of the democracy?

So little is said about the platform, is sure indication there is little to say.

EMMICK TO ATPOINT

Three City Officials at an Early Day.

Gas Trustee, Member of the Election Board and a Fire Commissioner.

Mayor Emmick will probably make three appointments on city boards this week.

They are one member of the board of gas trustees, to succeed the late Dr. W. Jones; one fire commissioner, who will be Mr. Eversman, to succeed himself, and one member of the board of elections, to succeed Mr. Curtis.

He has not yet stated who will be appointed for two of these offices, but to a Bee this morning he said that two of the three will be democrats.

A joint session of the council will be called Monday evening, if possible, and the appointments will then be submitted for approval.

This morning I. H. Detwiler and Co. sold to John B Stuart, sheriff of Lucas county, 20 feet on St. Clair street for $4,000.

The property is a part of the extensive block on the corner of St. Clair and Oak streets, recently purchased by a syndicate for $25,000.

The purchase made by Mr. Stuart fronts 40 feet south of the People's theater building.

A deed was filed at the county recorder's office to-day by which Jacob Taft conveyed lot 76, of Stickney's addition, to Charlotte L. Seagrave, the consideration being $4,000. The lot is located on Erie street, between Bush and Magnolia streets.

DEMOCRATS IN SESSION.

Buckeye Boys Meet at the State Capital.

Brice and Campbell to Go to Chicago.

Preliminary Work of the Convention —Notes Picked up Among the Delgeates.

Columbus, June 14.—The preliminary session of the Ohio democratic convention was called to order at 3 o'clock this afternoon and the temporary organization made as follows:

Chairman, James E. Neal; secretary, Lewis G. Bernard. After the appointment of the committees the convention adjourned to Wednesday.

While there is but little contest for places on the state ticket it is certain that good men will be selected to make the race.

One thing that will lend interest to the proceedings here is the fact that several of the districts are to select delegates to the Chicago convention while in Columbus. This course has been adopted as a means of avoiding a separate convention for the purpose. The district delegates to the national convention will be chosen by the delegates to the state convention at the time of the meeting to select members of the various committees and honorary officers of the convention.

An important point to be considered and passed upon in the convention and in connection with the presidential question is that of instructing the delegates-at-large. There is a sentiment on both sides of this proposition. That which favors instructions comes from the Cleveland following among the delegates, and if a resolution of this character is offered it will unquestionably come from the adherents of the ex-president, who regard him as the most available man in the country for the presidency.

On the other hand there is a very decided sentiment against issuing instructions, many preferring to send a delegation to Chicago without tying their hands. The bad effect of this course was fully demonstrated in Minneapolis last week, when the federal office-holders and instructed delegates from the north were just strong enough to nominate Harrison with the votes of the delegates from the south. Any effort to instruct for Cleveland would also be resisted by the Hill following, which, although not very strong in Ohio, will unquestionably be represented in the convention.

Not all of the Cleveland men, however, are in favor of instruction. Gov. Campbell is one of those who favors the sending of a delegation free to vote for the strongest man and Cleveland has no more stanch supporter in the state than the ex-governor.

In several of the districts there is promise of sharp contests for delegates to the Chicago convention. The tenth district, composed of the counties of Adams, Scioto, Pike, Jackson, Gallia, and Lawrence, has four candidates contesting for the two delegateships. These are H. L. Chapman, of Jackson; Col. John L. Vance, of Gallia; Michael Stanton, of Scioto; and S. J. O'Connell, of Lawrence. These gentlemen are all old wheelers in the cause of democracy and the district can hardly make a mistake in the selection of either of them.

This contest differs from the one in the eighteenth district in that it is not being made on presidential lines. The latter is composed of delegates who are contesting for the honor in the interest of Cleveland and Hill as the respective candidates for the presidential nomination. The Cleveland contingent is lead by the ubiquitous Al Carlisle, while the Hill men are under the guidance of W. K. L. Warwick, a son of the congressman. The meeting to settle the contest is to be held to-morrow night after the regular disrict delegate meetings.

Aside from the selection of competent and strong candidates for positions on the state ticket the election of four delegates-at-large to the Chicago convention, where the next president is to be nominated, will be the matter of chief interest. It is generally conceded that ex-Gov. Campbell and Senator Brice will be named as two of the delegates without a contest. For the remaining two places there are a number of candidates, among them being Virgil P. Kline, Robert Blee and W. W. Armstrong, of Cleveland; Hon. John A. McMahon, of Dayton; Allen W. Thurman, of Columbus; L. T. Neal, of Chillicothe, and Frank Hurd of Toledo. The candidacy of Mr. McMahon is handicapped from the fact that he lives in the same district with Gov. Campbell and it is not likely that the honor of two places on the delegation will go to the same locality. Mr. Thurman says to-night that he has reason to believe that his election is assured because of the promises of support received from various parts of the state.

Ex-Sheriff Sawyer, of Cleveland, has arrived and says the Cuyahoga forces will not be weakened by the presentation of three candidates. The Cuyahoga delegation, he states, will leave for Columbus to-morrow morning, and either on the train or soon after their arrival will hold a caucus to decide whom of the three candidates they will accord their support. If the delegates from that county, as seems probable from the statement of Mr. Sawyer, conclude to unite in asking for the selection of one of the candidates, either Messrs. Armstrong, Blee, or Kline will stand a very good show of going to Chicago as a delegate-at-large from Ohio.

The action of the republican national convention in turning down Blaine and the treachery of Gov. McKinley and the Ohio delegation have made things very uncertain in the Buckeye state. It is a good year for the democrats to run because it is doubtful if the republicans can ever harmonize the factions, and unless this is done the entire democratic state ticket will be elected and the electoral vote may go against Harrison and Reid.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN.

Democrats Going Into the Fight With High Spirits.

Columbus, June 14.—(Special)—All of last night and to-day delegates and visitors to the democratic state convention have been pouring into the capital city, and one can easily determine that lively times are in store for two days.

Nearly every delegate has an axe to grind for some special favorite, but there is general good feeling on all sides.

Of course interest centers in the contest for delegates to the national convention and many lightning rods are up.

As stated in these dispatches yesterday, there will be no question about the choice of Senator Brice and Gov. Campbell as two of the Big Four. But who will the other two be?

There is good work being done by all of the Lucas county delegates already in the city to bring about the election of Hon. Frank Hurd, and they are receiving valuable help from the distinguished gentleman's friends throughout the state, which cannot fail to count when the ballot is taken.

Larry Neal is in the lobby of the Neil shaking hands with his old-time cordiality, and is making good headway. It would not be surprising to find Mr. Neal on the list of successful candidates.

Allen W. Thurman is another gentleman who is doing considerable hustling. He is of the opinion that he will go to Chicago, but this is doubted by many of the knowing ones.

John McMahon's friends are pushing him with all the vigor possible.

Robert Blee, of Cleveland, seems to have united the Cuyahoga county's forces and will be presented as their candidate.

Others are suggested as delegates, but these are the leading competitors, and the four will be chosen from among them.

Most of the candidates have headquarters in the Neil, and are receiving callers in regular senatorial style, that is, so far as hand-shaking is concerned.

Senator Brice is expected this afternoon and he will have an ovation. His popularity among the rank and file is unbounded and this will be shown on his arrival.

Gov. Campbell is also on the ground, and to all he is the same genial Jim as of yore.

The state ticket is scarcely thought of. Hysell, Taylor, Meeker, Belville and others are suggested, and most of them are willing and even anxious to accept the honor at the hands of the party.

Congressman Dungan for Flower.

Hon. Irvine Dungan arrived and was mingling among the delegates. "Who will your convention send to Chicago?" was asked him by a reporter. "I don't know. It don't make much difference, so they will support an available man."

"Is he Cleveland?"

"I think not. We must nominate a man to win. Cleveland is strong in states we don't need and weak in states we must carry to succeed. We have to carry New York, and the general impression is the conditions are such that Mr. Cleveland can't do it."

"Then who would you suggest?"

"Gov. Flower. He is strong in New York and would make a good candidate."

Convention Gossip.

T. J. Cogan, of Cincinnati, is here.

I. J. C. Schumacher, of Tiffin—"I am for Cleveland."

W. H. Wolfe, of Lancaster—"I am for a western man."

J. B. Driggs, of Woodfield—"Our people are for Cleveland."

Ex-Gov. Campbell was mingling among the arrivals at the Neil last evening.

Gen. A. V. Rice was one of the late arrivals. His name is mentioned as an elector.

Senator Gear, of Wyandot—"I am for a western man. Yes, Campbell, or any man who can win."

Editor T. S. Arnold, of Leetonia, says he won't vote for any delegate-at-large unless he is for Cleveland.

Hon. Frank Hurd got in last night. His name will be presented for delegate-at-large. He says he won't decline the honor, but is not in the scramble.

Mr. Frank Reinhard, of this city, will be a candidate for member of the state central committee from this district. He will probably have no opposition.

Representative Price, of Hocking county—"I think Cleveland and Hill should both retire and a western man should be selected. No choice as to what western man."

Hon. E. B. Finley is on hand and will probably be placed on the committee on resolutions from the Thirteenth. His silver plank of last year is the cause of a strict watch being kept on him.

Hon. Lawrence T. Neal—"I am for the candidate for president that can win. That is my platform. I am a candidate for delegate-at-large. As between New York men I have no choice, except that I am for the man who seems most likely to win."

The Grand opera house, where the convention will be held, has been nicely arranged for the delegates, the spectators and the representatives of the press. Raised seats have been placed on the stage for distinguished guests and the tables will be reserved for working newspaper men.

Senator Burns, of Darke—"I do not believe we should instruct our delegates. When they get to Chicago if they find Cleveland is the strongest man, nominate him. If Hill is the man who can beat Harrison, nominate him. If neither can win, select another man. The sentiment among our people, however, is for Cleveland."

The Jackson club have made extensive preparatmions to welcome the visiting delegates. They will keep open house in their rooms on the east side of High street, just south of State. The rooms can be easily located because they are in the same building with the K. of P. lodge, whose sign is in front. A committee has been appointed to receive all visitors. Refreshments will be served and the members will do all in their power to make the visitors feel at home.

SHE DROWNED HER SORROWS

A Woman's Awful Crime at Bay City.

She Leaps Into the River With Two of Her Children and All are Drowned.

Bay City, Mich., June 14.—Mrs. George Beaudry, of South Bay City, jumped into the river this morning with two of her children, and all were drowned.

This morning about 6 o'clock, Mrs. Beaudry arose as usual and began getting breakfast. Her husband and five children were in bed. A few minutes later she went to the bedside of the two younger, and, dressing them, started from the house, carrying Victoria, aged 3, and leading George, aged 6, who has been blind for several years.

Mrs. Beaudry went to the river and sat down on the dock. She pushed the boy into the river and, seeing a man coming down the street, she jumped in herself, with the girl in her arms.

The man reached the river in time to see the mother and children about to sink, but not wishing to risk his life in an attempt to save the three, ran back to give an alarm. The bodies were recovered shortly afterwards.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Oh, yes, Messrs. Clarkson, Platt and Quay are in just the mood to take off their coats and work for the head of the ticket.—Chicago Mail.

The reconciliations are beautiful to behold, even though a faint view may be had occasionally of the glint of polished steel. It takes considerable time for the healthy healing of a sore spot.—Indianapolis News.

First it was Blaine, now it is McKinley who is accused of "treachery." Has it come to this, then, that the president is a reigning sovereign and that for any statesman to aspire to succeed him is treason?—New York World.

McKinley, too. What a Blaine man he used to be! But not this year. Blaine said something about the McKinley bill that wasn't just pleasant to the Ohio Napoleon, and forthwith McKinley became a fluid factor in things presidential.—Boston Globe.

The renomination of Benjamin Harrison is a threat to the harmony of the country. It is a proclamation in favor of war taxes in time of peace, and a force bill that will help to perpetuate a single party in power at the expense of the welfare of our institutions.—Memphis Appeal-Avalanche.

Whitelaw Reid's record as a foe to organized labor is sure to produce a Burchard. The arrogance and insolence of the plutocrats compel it. Some sleek, self-satisfied and overfed robber in high position will certainly voice the plutocratic contempt for labor, and afterwards he will stand in open-eyed wonder as he witnesses the tremendous effect of his words upon the people. Another Burchard is scheduled to arrive and may be expected at any moment.—St. Louis Republic.

President Harrison, after all, has been renominated. Officeholding wins. Sentiment, personality, magnetism, patriotism, gratitude for party and for national services, indebtedness and gratitude for personal services, the amenities, ethics and good faith which are commonly supposed to subsist between politicians of honor, no longer hold sway in the republican party. All these have gone by the board, with the signal overthrow of the republican party's idol, James G. Blaine, by Benjamin Harrison's remorseless use and abuse of the forces in the federal offices.—New York Telegram.

In surveying the field of Minneapolis, with its numerous wrecks of political fortunes, the first figure that strikes the mental vision is that of Gov. McKinley, who meant to be faithful to Harrison, but whose loyalty could not withstand the proof. His theatrical polling of the Ohio delegation, with its solid vote in his favor, was calculated to inspire succeeding delegations to join the movement. Success would have sanctified the stroke. Failure has condemned it; and Mr. McKinley's discomfiture was no less complete than that of the combined leader who had used him to make a diversion against Harrison. Mr. McKinley's complicity in this business, coyly as it was disavowed, will not be forgotten till the end of his days.—Philadelphia Record.

The three states wherein the republican party is strongest, New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio, voted against the renomination of the president. So did the close and important state of Connecticut. So did most of the silver states, now more than ever shaken in their allegiance to the republican party. It becomes apparent that the republicans have set at defiance all previous precedents by putting in nomination for re-election a candidate who, on the one vital and determining ballot, was rejected by the states which he carried in 1888. This is the daring of desperation and the hardihood of indifference. Only a convention controlled and managed by office-holders would be capable of it.—New York Sun.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Death of Representative Eli T. Stackhouse.

The Cabinet Discusses Mr. Blaine's Resignation.

A Message to be Sent in by the President on the Monetary Conference.

Washington, June 14.—Representative Eli T. Stackhouse, of the Sixth district of South Carolina, died suddenly at his residence in this city shortly after 2 o'clock this morning of heart disease.

Mr. Stackhouse was in his seat in the house yesterday and answered to the roll call, but, complaining of the intense heat left the house and returned to his residence.

Later in the afternoon he was much better and had his son read the papers to him. When about to retire the son offered to sit up with him, but Mr. Stackhouse deemed it unnecessary.

About 1:30 a. m. young Stackhouse heard his father breathing laboriously and called to him, but he did not respond. He never rallied and died shortly afterward.

The immediate cause of his death is thought to have been heart disease.

The South Carolina delegation held a meeting and adopted the customary resolutions of regret which will be presented to the house when it meets. The arrangements for the funeral are in the hands of the sergeant-at-arms and will be announced later.

M. Stackhouse was born in Marion county, S. C., in 1824. He served in the confederate army and became a colonel. He afterward became prominent in agricultural pursuits, was president of the state farmers' alliance, das a member of the legislature and was elected to the Fifty-second congress as a democrat.

In the Senate.

Washington, June 14.—In his opening prayer to-day Chaplain Butler reminded the senate, apropos of the death of Representative Stackhouse, of the uncertainty of life and made appropriate reference to those afflicted by his demise. After the transaction of some routine business Chief Clerk Towles, of the house, notified the senate of the death of Mr. Stackhouse and appropriate resolutions offered by Mr. Butler, of South Carolina, were adopted.

In accordance with the resolutions the vice president appointed Messrs. Butler, Kyle of North Dakota, White of Louisiana, Gallinger of New Hampshire, and Allen of Washington as a committee to attend the funeral on the part of the senate. The senate then at 12:20, as a further remark of respect to the memory of the deceased representative adjourned until to-morrow.

CABINET MEETING.

Washington, June 14.—The cabinet meeting to-day was fully attended with the exception of Secretary Elkins. It is understood that several important appointments were discussed and the case of Commander Smith of the navy was also considered.

MESSAGE FROM BEN.

Washington, June 14.—The president will soon transmit to congress a message on the forthcoming international monetary conference, together with the correspondence. With but one or two exceptions, all the European countries invited to the conference have sent in favorable responses.

SHELL HOUSE EXPLOSION.

Fatal Accident at the Mare Island Yards.

Fourteen People Killed and a Large Number Injured—Details of the Disaster.

Valejo, Cal., June 14.—A report which shook the town like an earthquake was heard at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, and was followed by the ringing of the alarm bells of the Mare Island navy yard. When the great volume of smoke at the yards cleared away it was found that an explosion had taken place at the shell house of the naval magazine.

The burned and charred bodies of two apprentice seamen were found on the beach, 200 yards from the scene of the explosion. In the midst of the ruins, and all around the side hills, could be seen bodies and remains scattered here and there. When collected together the total numbered twelve. The bodies were greatly disfigured, some being cut in two, and nearly all were minus limbs. The wounded men were taken to the hospital in a dying condition, two being the apprentices picked up on the beach. The force of the explosion had thrown them into the bay, where they were picked up by a merchant vessel. It is not known exactly how the explosion occurred. A working party of 15 men from the cruiser Boston, which was in the stone dock near by, had been sent to prepare ammunition and fill the shells for the ship. All were at work in the magazine. It is supposed that one of the party dropped a shell and caused the explosion. Dr. Lewis of the naval hospital was the first on the scene. He found one body possessed of life, but filled with pieces of wood and burned and bleeding.

Watchman Collins had a narrow escape. He has an ugly wound on the head caused by a piece of shell and is injured internally.

The body of Hettinger was found on the roof of the shell house, which was afterwards destroyed by fire. Mrs. Dougal of the light house and her daughter were early to assist any of the wounded, bringing bandages and doing much that was necessary. Drs. Magruder, Crane, Page, Moore and Lewis, all of the navy, were soon on the scene. The work of identifying the dead is not yet completed, as the energies of all were for some time devoted to getting the remains together; and the crew of the Boston, to which ship the dead and wounded belonged, worked hard in the ruins under the direction of Lieuts. Blaze, Robinson and Hughes. Among the dead the partially identified are the unfortunate gunner, Hittinger, Seamen Ketbile, Johnson, Henry, Jones and Heckel. From the body of one of the three whose lives are despaired of, the German, Dr. Lewis extracted a piece of wood six inches long by an inch thick, out of the right side. Besides this the bones of the left leg are shattered and, with the cuticule burned off the better part, the body is in a horrible state.

Just opposite the magazine is Starr's mills. The windows in the mills were broken. The men left their work and rushed from the mills, not knowing what might happen.

List of the Dead.

Valejo, Cal., June 14.—The following is a list of the killed:

T. George Hittinger, gunner, U. S. N.; Col. Sunberg, gunner's mate: Thomas Seymour, chief gunner's mate: William Heckel, apprentice; A. Ketyell, seaman; C. W. Smith, landsman: Wm. Washburne, seaman; F. Legat, seaman; W. Ostrander, apprentice: H. Joos, apprentice; Wm. Rush, seaman: —— Johnson, seaman; R. Reincke, seaman: J. H. Holton, apprentice.

Of the three taken to the hospital two have died. The one surviving is named J. Briscoe.

THE GILLMAN CASE.

Evidence Before Coroner Beckwith.

The Verdict Will Not be Rendered for Some Time by the Doctor.

Yesterday afternoon Coroner Beckwith held an inquest in the case of John Kauffman, who was shot early Sunday morning, by the discharge of a pistol held in Ferdinand Gillman's hand.

It seems, from the the evidence, that Gillman is an inoffensive German with a laughable face and a high squeaky voice—just such a character as boys delight to annoy, and annoy him they did.

At times they stole his gate, threw stones at his house, broke his windows, put "tick-tacks" on his house, loaded his wagon up and ran it off and dumped it somewhere, and did many other things that would tend to irritate the old man.

On the Sunday morning in question, Gillman's wife and child were awakened by boisterous noises outside the house.

Mr. Gillman, partially dressed, went out and asked them to move on. They did not seem to take any notice of him and he fired two shots in the air to scare them and bring the police.

The boys who were with young Kauffman that night, testified that they had been down to a dance. They acknowledged having been drinking a little, but denied that they were drunk.

They all said that they made no disturbance in front of Gillman's house.

However, two of them, Kauffman and another, entered Gillman's yard and made for him. The old man ran towards his door much frightened, but was interrupted by Kauffman, who showed fight.

He is charged with hitting Mr. Gillman several times in the face, the marks of which blows are still there, and of forcing him backwards against the side of the house.

Gillman threw his right arm up to defend himself from the blows. His left arm was being pressed against the house so that he could not use it.

The revolver, a self-cocker, was in his left hand.

In the struggle the revolver was discharged, the ball entering Kauffman's stomach.

From the testimony of Dr. Stoiz, who made the autopsy, it was shown that the course of the bullet corresponded with Gillman's description of their position when the pistol went off.

Rev. Meier, the Lutheran minister, residing across the street from Gillman, heard the first two shots and went to his window just in time to see two persons enter Gillman's yard, and he saw one of them attack the German.

The boys denied that any of their party made any movement toward Gillman, but the testimony of the reverend gentleman would go to corroborate Gillman's story.

James Pilliod appeared in the interests of Mr. Gillman. Coroner Beckwith will not render his verdict for several days.

Well, can it be I took that trick?
Perhaps you've heard that Jamie's sick
For three days past; he's had the mumps.
I never knew that hearts were trumps.
Now, Major Dow, what did you say?
But wait—third hand? 'tis then my play.
You'll pardon me, I wish to ask
Of Major where he bought that flash—
How cheap it was—indeed a chance.
The doctor says I can not dance
This year—perhaps—your cards? Well, there,
I'll play my queen, that trick is square.
I counted right, I know I did.
Yes, chamois' worn much more than kid,
Oh! did you see the morning's Post,
The fashion notes about that dress?
But don't let's talk, I'll lose my head,
And noisy whist I simply dread.
Yet while I think about that lace—
Partner, did you play the ace?
I have the patterns, nice and fine—
Would you believe that trick is mine!
Another game? Well, we're in luck,
I read that joke last week in Puck.
We'd better stop before we lose—
I'm sure that if I were to choose
Between the two, I'd not take Jim,
But then, of course, 'tis Anna's whim.
Well, good night all, I just love whist,
And trust next time, I'm on your list.

Long heads are usually associated with the possession of great intellectual strength and mental capacity. Herr D. Ammon, however, who made examination of the cranial capacity of 5,000 soldiers at Baden, the results of which he communicated to the German men of science at Heidelberg, is of the opinion that the size of the skull depends almost invariably on the proportion of the body. Tall men he found to always have long skulls, or skulls of medium length, whereas the short, fat men, as a rule, had round, flat heads.

WHY HE SWORE OFF.

"No," said the drummer, fiercely, "I play no games of chance any more, not even the simplest kind, for money."

"Won't you pitch pennies?" persisted his companion.

"That least of all," he said, visibly affected.

"Why not?" asked the other.

"Why not?" asmfrwypmfw

"Do you see this dollar?" he said, taking a cartwheel from his pocket. "Well, thereby hangs a tale. Listen: Ten years ago I was, and had been for five years, traveling for a big diamond-importing in New York, and as usual I carried with me a large number of gems, often having as much as $50,000 worth. One day four us, all in the same line, met in Denver, and that evening we were drinking and matching dollars in my room. It was a hobby of mine, as it was of one of the other men, Frank H—, who was as inveterate a matcher as ever the late John T. Raymond was. Well, we drank and matched, and kept at it until we began t otass up at $5 a toss, and the other to toss up at $5 a toss, and the other two soon backed out and watched us. I guess we were both pretty drunk, for before I knew it we had made a pot of $100 and were tossing best two in three for it. I lost, and lost again, and then, having no more money, I put up a diamond against his pile. I lost that, too, and then put up two against his money and what had been my diamond, and that time I won. I think we were both half crazy now, for Frank pulled out one of the pocketbooks from the inside of his vest and laid it open on the table and asked me angrily if I dared to match it. Of course I dared, and I dared more. I put down beside it all mine, valued at wholesale rates at $50,000 and he emptied his other vest pocket to an equal amount. Our two friends tried to stop us, but we were wild and would listen to nothing. Frank threw first and I called 'tails.' It came 'heads.' It made me shiver. Then I threw 'heads' and he called 'tails' and we were even. I don't know how I felt as he picked up the dollar, and I looked at those glittering gems, for I don't know anything clearly, though I had a vague idea that somebody would be ruined forever on the next throw. Frank tossed the dollar to the ceiling, and I called 'heads.' It struck the floor and rolled over toward the register. All four of us made a rush for it, and Frank fell headlong. The dollar had dropped through the grating and was lying on the closed shutters of the register just below.

"'Get a match,' I almost shieked.

I stepped back and my foot struck Frank. He did not move. I bent down and shook him. He was still. I tried to cry out, but could not. The other two men caught hold of him and turned him over. His face was blue and the blood was gushing from his mouth. He had died in an instant. We were all sober in a second, and at once alarmed the landlord and sent for a physician, but he might as well not have come. He told us death had been instantaneous. I put my diamonds back into my pockets and took care of Frank's; and the balance of the stakes I divided, taking what I had put up and setting his aside, and the next morning we started home with poor Frank's body."

"How about the dollar in the register?" asked the listener. "Who won?"

"Oh," said the drummer, with a start, "I almost forgot that part of it. I never thought of that dollar till just before we left, and going back I fished it out and put it in my pocket, and this is it. It was 'heads.'"

"No wonder you don't gamble any more," exclaimed the listener, with a sigh of relief. "Let's go and take a drink as a forgetter."

"And I don't drink any more, either," said the old drummer quietly.—Detroit Free Press.

SUCCI'S FATE PREDICTED.

The Doctors Agreed That the Renouned Faster Would Go Insane.

The report cabled from London that Succi, the faster, had gone mad and had been placed in an asylum was not unexpected, says the New York World. That end was predicted for him by physicians when his wonderful powers of abstaining totally from food for long periods first attracted the attention of scientists the world over.

Everybody in New York remembers the interest taken in Sig. Succi while he was fasting here at Koster & Bial's building in West Twenty-third street, a year ago last winter. Although watched closely and on exhibition all the time, he lived 45 days on an empty stomach. He drank water, but not a bit of solid food passed his lips. His performance beat Tanner's by 120 hours.

Just before Succi came to America he had fasted in London and before that he had given exhibitions of his extraordinary powers, in Paris, Vienna, Florence, Brussels, and a number of other continental cities. In fact his London feat was the thirty-third in his strange record. He had been carefully studied by European specialists in physiology and science, and he was loaded down with medals, certificates and diplomas. Succi in appearance was thin and wasted and after one of his long tasks looked more like a mummy than a man. He was a nervous little Italian and his small, black restless eye gleamed in his shriveled face like burning coals dropped on yellow parchment.

In an interview with Succi during his London fast he was asked how he came to think of fasting as a fine art. He answered that he found out his capacity of abstinence in 1879, when ill with fever on the African coast. He had been fasting for several days and instead of losing strength "felt a new force awake within me." He always ascribed his success to a tremendous will force, which, increased by a sustained exertion of his mental faculties, created within him a power like hypnotism or galvanism. "My will is stronger than my body; there you have the whole secret," he used to say.

A curious thing about Succi was the fact that while he was fasting, instead of lying supine and inactive like Tanner, Merlatta, and others of that class, he was always the reverse. During his performance in Paris he climbed to the third platform of the Eiffel tower on the fifteenth day of his abstinence. And generally, during his fasting periods, he was able to fence, ride, swim, and play billiards, as the mood took him. Succi was a very intelligent and accomplished man and a great traveler. Before he became a professional faster he was an African explorer, and fell in with Stanley once while hippopotamus hunting.

Succi is now in his fortieth year. He was born in the province of Flori, Italy. There is a popular story that while he was in Africa exploring he discovered a secret elixir from one of the tribes, which sustained him during his long fasts.

DOINGS IN WASHINGTON.

Secretary Foster Would Like More Cash

With Which to Run the Government.

Congress Recovers From the Convention and Gets Down to Business Once More.

Washington, June 13.—Secretary Foster sent to the house to-day a letter requesting an appropriation of $250,000 to carry out the act providing for the celebration of the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus.

The secretary in his letter states that in view of the necessity of adequate precautions at the world's Columbian exposition in Chicago for protection of the revenue customs and for the supervision of importations made under he provisions of the act of April, 1890, he has made a careful estimate of the expenses which will be incurred and recommends that $250,000 be applied to the purpose mentioned.

The appropriation, he says, is absolutely necessary because the standing appropriation for collecting the revenue from customs is now insufficient for the regular customs service.

Secretary Foster sent to the senate to-day a letter calling attention of the senate to section 3 of the legislative and judicial appropriation bill for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1893, which prohibits the continuance of the present system of employing substitutes in the several departments for clerks who are absent on account of sickness in excess of the time allowed by departmental regulations.

He is of the opinion that it works a hardship to the clerks and should be stricken out of the bill.

Cherokee Indians.

Washington, June 13.—Chairman Peel, of the house committee on Indian affairs, was to-day authorized to report favorably the bill appropriating $8,595,736 to ratify and confirm an agreement with the Cherokee nation of Indians of the Indian territory.

The Leake Case.

Washington, June 13.—Representative Henderson, chairman of the house committee on postoffices and postroads, has received a letter from Postmaster-General Wanamaker acknowledging the receipt of the notification of the appointment of a sub-committee to examine the papers in the matter of the complaint of S. F. Leake against postoffice officials.

After stating that he had furnished the committee with correspondence matter, heretofore mentioned, Mr. Wanamaker concludes by saying that if further information is needed about Mr. Leake, he would suggest that the chairman call before the committee Mr. Edgerton, the chief inspector of the division, whose headquarters are at Philadelphia.

In the House.

Washington, June 13.—There was a perceptible increase in the number of republican members this morning, the Minneapolis contingent having returned.

By unanimous consent the following bills were passed: To admit Indian children to citizenship at 21 years provided that they have had ten years industrial training.

To authorize the Washington Scheutzen verein to erect a statue to Baron von Steuben, in one of the public reservations in Washington, D. C.

This being district day the house proceeded with business relating to the district of Columbia.

In the Senate.

Washington, June 13.—In the senate to-day Mr. Stewart, of Nevada, reported the pension appropriation bill.

Mr. McPherson said he would speak on the silver question Wednesday. Mr. Peffer (Farmers' Alliance, of Kansas), called up and spoke on his bill to increase the currency and provide for the circulation, to reduce the rate of interest, and to establish a bureau of loans, was taken up and Mr. Peffer addressed the senate in advocacy of its provisions.

World's Fair.

Washington, June 13.—The sub-committee of the house world's fair committee, charged with the preparation of the bill making an appropriation of $5,000,000 to aid the exposition, reported their bill to the full committee to-day.

The bill reported is practically the same as the one prepared by the world's fair directors, the only change of importance being a proviso that the ten million souvenir coins provided for shall b ecoined from the uncurrent subsidiary coin now in the treasury, instead of from bullion purchased especially for the purpose. The full committee discussed the bill and adjourned until to-morrow without reaching any conclusion.

Mr. Peffer said the bill provided a simple and feasible plan to relieve the financial situation. It did not provide for the coinage of any more silver than at present provided by law. It provided for the issue of two and a half dollars of paper money for veery dollar of silver specie, but in asking this he was asking nothing unreasonable or out of harmony with existing needs. During his remraks Mr. eFffer made reference to ex-Senator Ingalls, whom he called his "distinguished predessor," and spoke of the "prolific portrayal and powerful speech of which he was so capable."

At the conclusion of Mr. Peffer's remarks the bill was laid aside and the senate at 2:35 adjourned until to-morrow.

Mr. W. D. Wentz, of Geneva, N. Y., was cured of the severest form of dyspepsia by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Full particulars sent if you write C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

The highest praise has been won by Hood's Pills for their easy, yet efficient action.

MINNIE M'CUE.

She Refused to Eat and Died in Consequence.

Cincinnati, June 14.—Minnie McCue, 33, residing with her parents at 175 West Seventh street, Covington, starved herself to death.

Monday morning she died. Her physicians say the cause was exhaustion.

Being of unsound mind, she, a few weeks ago took a queer notion that she would quit eating.

When it became known to the family what she had resolved they endeavored to have her break her resolution, but to no purpose. She stoutly refused to touch a mouthful of anything.

In consequence she gradually grew weaker and weaker until her expiration Monday morning.

Minnie McCue's case is a singular one. Physicians have attempted to force nourishment into her stomach, but she would prove victor in every case.

THE TIN PLATE BILL.

Democrats Will Call It Up in the House.

Washington, June 14.—It is the present intention of the democratic managers to call up the tin plate bill when the fortifications appropriation bill is disposed of by the house.

The consideration of the tin plate bill will probably occupy several days, so that it is doubtful if any other measure will be called up during the week. Several conference reports are expected, and, if presented, will occupy the attention of the house after the tariff bill is acted upon.

Their gentle action and good effect on the system really make them a perfect little pill. They please those who use them. Carter's Little Liver Pills may well be termed "Perfection."

The anniversary of the death of Cal. Crawford, a pioneer Indian fighter, who was burned to the stake near Upper Sandusky, was celebrated in royal style.

WRITING ABOUT HIS WIFE.

An Interesting Letter That Explains Itself.

Mrs. Doherty Refuses to Give a Testimonial for a Medicine—Her Horror of Newspaper Notoriety—The Family Physician is Nonplussed About Her Case.

C. J. O'Brien, one of the most popular clothing salesmen of Boston, has won considerable fame of late in writing newspaper articles relative to his remarkable recovery from rheumatism.

He has given to the press both his own statements and those of his frieids whom he has cured with the same means that restored his health and strength.

The last contribution from him is the following letter, the truth of which Mr. O'Brien vouches for:

Providence, R. I., May 30, 1892.

Dear O'Brien:—In answer to your letter of yesterday asking Mrs. Doherty for a testimonial. Grace regrets very much that she cannot grant this request, as she has a particular horror of newspaper notoriety, and could not bring herself to write for you.

We thoroughly appreciate your kindness in calling her attention to the medicine that restored her health, and she also feels that she is under the greatest obligations to Paine's celery compound for the cure which it effected. Just think of it! she is able to walk from one to two miles without feeling the slightest fatigue, and her weight is increased from 98 to 125 pounds. Our family physician is completely nonplussed about her case, and I am convinced that he is now using the compound in nervous troubles similar to what my wife has suffered from.

Grace and I intend to visit Europe this summer. We hope you will visit us before our departure.

Hoping you and family are enjoying good health, I remain

Yours always,
GEROLD DOHERTY.

P. S.—If I was the person Paine's celery compound had cured, I would not have the slightest hesitation in sending you a testimonial. As it is, Grace is willing that you publish this letter in Boston if you desire, but in Providence does not want her name to be used in the papers.

G. D.

Mr. O'Brien states that his friend's wife is but one of many who were weak and suffering, but whom Paine's celery compound has restored to strength and health.

This compound is not an ordinary remedy; it is the prescription that made the fame of Prof. Phelps, of Dartmouth. It has undoubtedly done more to cure disease and heal the afflicted than any medical discovery heretofore made.

THAT GAS CONTRACT

Has Expired and Cannot be Extended.

No Salaries for the Gas Trustees—Numerous Street Improvements—Aldermanic Business.

The sultry weather very seriously interfered with the talking abilities of the members of the aldermanic board last evening. All members were present, however, but the business was hurried through as rapidly as possible.

The most important matter before the board was the ordinance to extend the contract between the Northwestern Natural Gas company and the city of Toledo to July, 1896.

This came up as unfinished business, but when it was read City Solicitor Read informed the board that such an ordinance would be of no effect as the contract with the Northwestern had expired on June 1, and consequently there is no contract now in force to be extended.

Messrs. Hartford and Hassenzahl both made motions to refer the ordinance back to the committee and though this did not suit President Huberich, who was the author of the measure, he so referred it.

The resolution fixing the salary of the gas trustees at $600 per year also came up, but was defeated by a party vote, the democrats being against it.

A large number of small matters were on the schedule and were all passed except a resolution to pave Spielbusch avenue and an ordinance to build a sewer in Peck street. These were referred back to the committee.

The measures passed included ordinances to improve Niagara street and to vacate part of Utah street; resolutions to improve Union street, Utah street, Michigan street, Erie street, to repair Lagrange street, and to advertise the vacation of part of South street, also ordinances for the construction of sewers in Sixteenth street, East Broadway, Ravine alley, and the alley between West Broadway and Orchard streets, and resolutions for sewers in the alley between Logan and Harrison streets and in Michigan street.

HEADED THE OFF.

A Robbery thae Failed to Materialize.

Connellsville, Pa., June 13.—An attempt was made last night to hold up the New York & Philadelphia express on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad between Layton and Connellsville.

The train leaves Pittsburg at 9:20 p. m. The plan of th etrain robbers were to flag or wreck the train,the n board it and rob the mail and express cars. The train carried $186,000.

The railroad officials in some way got word that the attempted robbery was to be made. A telegram was sent to Robert Sheppard, the Baltimore & Ohio detective, here.

He went to Uniontown and from there a special train took Sheppard, Sheriff McCormick and a posse to Layton.

There they boarded the express and rode through to Cumberland. Had not the robbers gained information that the officials were on the lookout for them, it is likely that a big haul would have been made. The railroad people to-day admit that they expected the robbery but refuse any information.

BEHOOVES THEM TO THINK.

National League Ball Not What It's Cracked Up To Be.

New York, June 13.—The base ball magnates of the National league who were about the Fifth Avenue hotel this morning before the opening of the special meeting were holding a private consultation among themselves and apparently thinking deeply over the questions which they will be called upon to decide.

Among those present were President Young, of Washington, Prof. Soden, of Boston; Wm. C. Temple, of Pittsburg; A. C. Anson, of Chicago; C. Von Der Ahe, of St. Louis, G. Abell, of Brooklyn; J. W. Spaulding and Von Der Horst. It is stated that the business for which the meeting was called may not be completed until to-morrow.

CARICATURE IN AMERICA.

It Dates From Andrew Jackson's Time, but Only Took Real Shape in 1850.

Political caricature in the United States virtually dates from the first administration of Andrew Jackson. There had been occasional efforts to use caricature as a political weapon previous to that time, but they were too crude in execution, too spasmodic in appearance and too indefinite in purpose to be taken into consideration in tracing the beginnings of our modern school. The advent in national politics of so robust a personality as General Jackson seems not unnaturally to have stimulated a resort to pictorial means for both assailing and defending him. He had entered the presidency as the savior of his country, a military hero of indomitable valor. His fight against the United States bank, his vociferous and unceremonious methods of conducting controversies with political opponents, the subservient conduct of his famous "kitchen cabinet," and its dissolution when Van Buren withdrew from it, had combined during his first term to enhance greatly his attractiveness as a popular idol. He appeared before the people as their only champion against the oppressive designs of a huge money monopoly in which the whole world was joined. He was the "People's Friend" in all crises; the giant who, single-handed, was fighting their battles against enemies from all quarters. Every conspicuous act of his public life was performed amid uproar and turmoil. Even when his "kitchen cabinet" was dissolved there was so much dramatic disturbance that one of the political caricatures of the times pictures him, armed with a churn-dasher, clearing the kitchen of all opponents as with the very besom of destruction.

In the United States the many figured group cartoon appears to have been a steady favorite since Jackson's time. Its immediate inspirers were undoubtedly Gillray and John Doyle, more especially the latter, whose sketches had been filling the shop windows of London for two years when similar productions began to appear on this side of the water. Doyle had followed Gillray at a considerable distance, however, for he was a far inferior artist in every way, having slight perception of humor and being hard and inflexible in his methods. What Doyle did was to take Gillray's occasional act of giving a correct likeness and make it his own permanent practice. His sketches are valued to-day chiefly for this quality, all his drawings of leading men of the period being veritable portraits of real historical value, some of them the best in existence. Our early American political caricaturists followed Doyle's example as faithfully as their powers as draftsmen would permit. That they did not succeed very well in the beginning, the Century thinks, was not strange. Drawing was scarcely taught at all in this country at the time, and the only persons who were skilled in it had drifted from here abroad, and had little knowledge of our politics and public men. It was only in very rare instances, therefore, that a lithograph caricature of an earlier date than 1840 can be found which is even tolerable, either in conception or execution. There was a slight improvement after that period, and by 1850 a sufficient advance had been made to justify the assertion that the foundation of a school of American political caricature had been laid.

BOARDMAN & GRAY PIANOS

ESTABLISHED 1837.

Sold continuously since 1870 at 219 Summit Street.

This make, sold in large numbers for more than 21 years by a reliable house, recommended and indorsed by nearly all of the best musicians and teachers in Toledo, has become a formidable barrier to the sale of other first-class pianos offered by competing dealers and their agents, by reason of their constantly increasing sale and popularity. Competitors, alarmed and uneasy, resort to many unreasonable as well as untrue statements, which they work off on confiding individuals, and cause them to be circulated in this city and elsewhere. Among these old chestnuts, is the statement that "The Whitney & Currier company manufacture the Boardman & Gray, or have a proprietary interest in their manufacture, and are actuated by that interest, to praise their merit and push their sale." The first part of this statement is untrue. This company has no proprietary interest in the manufacture of any piano. It is actuated in recommending the Boardman & Gray piano by the same motives which actuate any honest individual in recommending that which he knows to be of superior merit, and also by the same motives any one would have in pushing the sale of any successful meritorious article in which a reasonable profit may be realized, and that which is true of Boardman & Gray in this respect, is true of other makes this company has for sale. The superior facilities the Whitney & Currier company has in purchasing, enable it to give greater value for a like sum of money than can be had of its competitors. No other house can show an equal line of first-class Pianos, nor the number from which to select in making a purchase. All are invited to call and see for themselves, whether wishing to buy or not.

THE WHITNEY & CURRIER CO., 219 Summit street.

Why Should Piano Dealers and Their Agents Go Out of Their Way to Decry the Superior Merits of the Boardman & Gray Pianos? The Reason is Obvious.

IN UNITED STATES COURT.

The Jury Found Gross Guilty as Charged.

Court Late in Convening but It Grinds When It Gets Down to Work.

As stated in last evening's Bee, court did not convene at 10 o'clock, the hour set, on account of the non-appearance of the judge and district attorney.

They arrived in the afternoon at 2:30, and at 3 o'clock commenced, and a jury was empaneled to try the Fostoria men, Gross and Leitner, who have been jointly indicted, charged with passing counterfeit money.

The prisoners were brought into court at 3:30 and arraigned, the district attorney deciding to try them separtely.

Gross' case was taken up first, and four witnesses testified for the prosecution, Lillie Gurney, in whose saloon Gross and Leitner tried to pass the counterfeit dollar on January 29, Isabella Hacket, in whose grocery, where it is claimed Gross succeeded in passing the coin, Lewis Lajoy, Mrs. Hackett's clerk, who waited upon Gross, and Marshal Baley, who arrested the men and got the dollar from Mrs. Hackett the morning after it was said to have been passed by Gross.

Mr. Boley testified that the coin was counterfeit. Defendant's counsel cross-examined each of the witnesses. He moved that the jury be instructed to render a verdict of not guilty, as there had been no testimony offered to show that the coin was counterfeit.

The motion was overruled.

Gross, then, on motion of his counsel, took the stand in his own behalf. He said he didnot know the coin was counterfeit, and denied that he had been in the places of Mrs. Gurney and Mrs. Hacket at the hours they had stated.

The district attorney made a brief address to the jury, and Mr. Chittenden, counsel for the defense, made the closing argument.

Judge Ricks then charged the jury and they retired at 5 o'clock.

The jury found a verdict of guilty this morning.

In the case of the United States v. William Johnson, charged with violation of the revenue law, the plea was guilty. He was fined $10 and costs.

The case of the United States v. Frank B. Anderson and L. B. Knapp, for violating the revenue law, came up and the men plead guilty. They were fined $10 and costs.

In the case of the United States v. Maggie Leslie for sending obscene letters through the mails, the woman plead guilty and was fined $10 and costs.

In the case of the United States v. John Glenn, the plea was guilty and a fine of $10 and costs imposed.

Did you not suppose that a belfry meant a place where a bell was hung and that the name was derived from the fact of the bells being there? Well, it seems that nothing of the kind is true. Chamber's Journal says that the real meaning of belfry is its first meaning, "a watch tower," the Middle English word being "berfry." The "ber" was taken from borough and the "fry" from free. By and by, when bells were hung in the towers the "ber" was changed to bell, and everybody since has supposed that belfry was the only word ever used. We are always supposing, but are not always right, it seems.—New York World.

The elster (pica candata) is a bird that is respected and feared throughout South Germany. It belongs to the raven tribe, and is about the size of a dove, with black and white feathers and long pointed tail. It builds its nests in orchards, and its life is sacred. If it is seen three times in succession on the same housetop in a place remote from its home, it is believed to be a sure sign of death in that house.

CASE OF ARSON,

Insurance Adjusters Arrive at This Conclusion

Relative to the Burning of the Residence of Miss Helen Cornett 234 Erie Street.

Mr. O. A. Forbes the insurance adjuster in the case of the fire at the residence of Miss Helen Cornett, 234 Erie street, last Friday morning, after a careful investigation, sets it down as a case of arson pure and simple and as such will report it to the insurance companies interested.

Speaking with a Bee this morning, Mr. Forbes said: "Every room in the house had been evidently fired. Even the sofas and lounges in the upper rooms were saturated with coal oil. Miss Cornett, the occupier, is in my opinion, in no way to blame. The house, it appears, was entered by burglars the night preceding the fire, and Miss Cornett fearing to remain alone, spent the night at the house of a friend."

"Do you suspect anyone?"

"Yes. Miss Cornett, it appears, had certain enemies who might have done the job. I don't want to say anything about that just now. Enmity of Miss Cornett is the only feasible motive I can see."

"Have you adjusted the loss?"

"Not yet. Our insurance on the furniture was $1,232, and the loss is $386. We are still investigating."

The matter has been placed in the hands of the police, who are working on a cue.

CHANGE of LIFE

whether in early girlhood or later on in adult years of the gentler sex is considered a dangerous and momentous period. Passed safely it means everything which is bright and beautiful, otherwise it may mean perpetual ailing, intense suffering, perhaps Death now and then an Insane Asylum. It was after many years successful experience as practising physician and constant study of the subject that I put up in popular form to be sold through the druggists my remedy known as

Without charge I answer all letters from those who wish advice on this most important subject; and furthermore I send two bottles free of Dr. Marchisi's Uterine Catholicon in this way any lady may assure herself of its great curative qualities before going to the expense of buying from the drug store.

DIAMETER OF A THUNDERBOLT.

The Sort of a Plug Hole which a Flash of Lightning Makes.

"Did you ever see the diameter of a lightning flash measured?" asked a geologist. "Well, here is the case which once inclosed a flash of lightning, fitting it exactly, so that you can just see how big it was. This is called a 'fulgurite,' or 'lightning hole,' and the material it is made of is glass. I will tell you how it was manufactured, though it took only a fraction of a second to turn it out.

"When a bolt of lightning strikes a bed of sand it plunges downward into the sand for a distance, less or greater, transforming simultaneously into glass the silica in the material through which it passes. Thus, by its great heat, it forms a glass tube of precisely its own size.

"Now and then such a tube, known as a 'fulgurite,' is found and dug up. Fulgurites have been followed into the sand by excavations for nearly thirty feet. They vary in interior diameter from the size of a quill of three inches or more, according to the bore of the flash.

"But the fulgurites are not alone produced in sand; they are found also in solid rocks, though very naturally of slight depth and frequently existing merely as a thin glassy coating on the surface. Such fulgurites occur in astonishing abundance on the summit of Little Ararat, in Armenia.

"The rock is soft, and so porous that blocks a foot long can be obtained, perforated in all directions by little tubes filled with bottle-green glass formed from the fused rock.

"There is a small specimen in the National museum which has the appearance of having been bored by the toredo, the holes made by the worm subsequently filled with glass. I am indebted to the Washington Star for the foregoing accounts.

"I may add that Charles Darwin mentions these fulgurites in his book of travels, and Humboldt found some on the high Nevada de Zoluca in Mexico. Humboldt ascended this precipitous peak at the risk of his life."—Scientific American.

People's fingers, cut from the hands of the dead, are sometimes carried as amulets by the ignorant and superstitious. Dried lizards sewn up in leather serve the same purpose. The Indian hunter will cut the shape of an animal out of stone have it "blessed" by the medicine man and believe that it gives him good fortune in the chase of the beast represented. When he kills one he dips the fetich in the blood.

Japan is rapidly becoming a considerable consumer of diamonds. With the opening up of the world by railway and steamship communication the demand for diamonds has increased marvelously. The world now purchases about £5,000,000 worth per annum. Twenty years ago it was about £500,000.

A JAPANESE PRISON.

That "stone walls do not a prison make" is characteristic of prisons in Japan. It would be strange if a people as poetic and unique as the Japanese did not treat crime and criminals in a different way from any other nation; and as their morality, religion and standards differ from ours so do their prisons.

Among many experiences, I can count none more sad and dispiriting that a visit to an English model prison.

The gray, blank walls, the cold, cheerless cells, the soliatry prisoners at work at useless tasks, the exercise grounds, with the men making their daily dreary rounds, the coarse, repulsive faces of the criminals and the stolid indifference of the warden, with his clanking keys, all combine to leave on the mind a weary sense of some of the hopeless results of advanced civilization.

A visit to a Japanese jail leaves quite a different memory. The people who can laugh at a funeral, and who are rarely seen to cry, except at the theater, are not bound to treat crime very seriously, and to regard criminals more as those who have gone a little astray than as persons radically bad.

"Do go and see a prison before you leave here," said a lady to me, "you will be interested; it is one of the prettiest things I have seen in Japan."

So I went and visited the state prison situated in the outskirts of Tokio. Driven by two fast runners yoked in the jinriksha, or small handcar, which takes the place of cab or carriage in Japan, we sped along at the rate of seven miles an hour, through the busy streets of Tokio, across the wide river, and out into the suburbs, where the lilac, wistaria and the flame-colored azaleas were making all the gardens gay.

On arriving at the prison premises I was struck at once by the fact that there were no outer walls, and that the gates which led into the large garden and farm which surround the buildings stood wide open.

The prison contained, however, 1,667 prisoners, 1,542 men and 119 women, and of this number 1,062 men and 51 women had been committed for robbery, I was told.—Waverly Magazine.

MISS SELMA HERMANN

Appears With Frank Mayo at the People's.

The Streets of New York Being Played for the Benefit of the Painters' Union—Dr. Flint Coming.

It was quite warm last evening and the audience at the People's was somewhat small.

However, an excellent performance was given by Frank Mayo and his company. They presented the Streets of New York, an old but a very strong piece, Mr. Mayo appearing in his original part of Tom Badger.

The performance was good throughout and was enlivened by a number of clever specialties. Miss Selma Hermann, of this city, played Alida Bloodgood, the banker's daughter, and scored a success in the part.

There will be matinees Thursday and Saturday. The performances this week are for the benefit of the Painters' union and should be largely attended.

Dr. Flint to Return.

Dr. Herbert L. Flint, the mesmerist who made so much fun and gave such clever exhibitions of his powers at Wheeler's a short time ago, will be at the People's all next week.

He is a wonderful man and does many unaccountable things. Those who have heard much about him since his last appearance here will be pleased to learn of his return.

Some authorities insist that the great toe ought to project farthest, others that it should not project quite so far as the second toe; while others, again, maintain that the two should be of equal length. It is well known that in antique statues the second toe is usually the longer of the two, while the first is longer in living men.
